Guns Stop Radio

CP from AP-Reuters

ALGIERS — The terrorist Secret Army widened its scorched earth campaign in Algeria Friday and launched a swift bazooka attack on a radio station that carried an optimistic speech by President de Gaulle from Paris.

The hit-and-run attack left the fifth-floor studios of Radio Algiers heavily damaged just after de Gaulle had hailed a new Algeria and predicted that in 23 days its people will have instituted their independence through a self-determination referendum.

'CRIMINAL MADMEN'

The Secret Army terrorists who seek to block independence are "criminal madmen," de Gaulle said.

"In 23 days, the Algerian problem in its substance will be resolved for France," de Gaulle said. "Algeria will determine its own future. Algeria and France will be able to cooperate organically and regularly with each other."

WAS READING NEWS

The Secret Army attack came as an announcer was reading an evening news summary.

Listeners heard screams and what sounded like gunfire. Some one in the studio shouted "No, no," and the station went off the air. It was back on in two minutes with recorded classical music.

Police said later at least one person in the studio was wounded.

WRECK ANYTHING

Throughout the day the Secret Army set off hundreds of pounds of explosives in carrying out their campaign to destroy anything that could benefit the Moslems after independence.

European leaders resumed talks Friday with Moslem leaders at the administrative centre of Rocher Noir, outside Algiers. The talks resumed after a two-day break.

West Coast 'Treasure'

Death Trap Yields Rich Haul

A treasure trove of fish and game, Indian artifacts, ancient relics and scenic beauty has been uncovered by two Sooke hikers who trekked some 60 miles over an "impassable" trail to Bamfield.

But bricklayer Harold George Witham, 45, Church Road in Sooke, and Island Tug mate Jerry Filippo, 24, West Coast Road, warned off those who would follow their lead.

DEATH TRAP

The first 15 miles of the trail they followed from Port Renfrew to Bamfield, said Mr. Witham, is a death trap.

And nature has reclaimed much of the rest of the trail hacked out of the wilderness by telephone and department of transport line crews years ago.

IT'S A LIFELINE

"It's too bad the trail is not in better shape—the people of Bamfield say it is a lifeline in case of a ship being wrecked along the coastline," said Mr. Witham.

And hunters, hikers and fishermen would find it a royal road to the teeming game and fish abounding in the area.

BIG FAT BUCKS

"We spotted deer—big fat buck—and cougar, picked up elk sign and at least one river is teeming with steelhead."

The veteran hikers found the Bamfield trail from Port Renfrew a real challenge. "Some portions were overgrown to a depth of 10 feet.

LOST THE TRAIL

"We spent an hour covering 100 yards once when we lost the trail," said Mr. Witham.

Various proposals in the past to build a road linking Port Renfrew with Bamfield seemed slightly star-struck to both.

"It would cost a fortune. In the first 15 miles alone they would need about seven bridges over deep gorges," said Mr. Witham.

It was this section where they had their biggest problems. Old ladders built by former line crews, which reach to the bottom of the

Road Workers' Nightmare Sequel to Baffling Eruption

TERRACE (CP)—Government investigators were flown in Friday to view a mysterious underground upheaval which swept a provincial government campsite into a lake, toppled trees and power poles and severed two highways near this north-central British Columbia community.

* * *

Workmen started hacking through the bush 100 feet from the slide to build a detour road. The 4,000-foot detour will be open to traffic within a week, again linking the coastal aluminum smelting community of Kitimat with civilization by road. Kitimat is 40 miles north.

* * *

Highways department officials said it may be necessary to build a third new road to bypass the section.

District Superintendent Carl Shaw said the area is a highway worker's nightmare.

He said the workers have drilled 50 feet down and still have not reached the bottom of the blue clay.

* * *

He said one tractor operator, who had been in two slides, quit.

"The poor guy said he'd had it. He said he watched his tractor slowly revolve two or three times then disappear into the mud with a sucking sound. It was enough for him."

Smoke Action Drags

By TED SHACKLEFORD

Lumber mills and industries which have been given 11 months to meet the conditions of the city smoke bylaw will be given more latitude before prosecution begins.

Plants found breaking the bylaw by giving out too much fly ash will be warned and given time to instal equipment to reduce it before another check.

Where too much smoke is produced, three warnings will be issued before the owner is given notice of a prosecution.

BEGIN MONDAY

A team of three men will begin checking plants for excess smoke Monday.

Stack samplers—machines installed in smokestacks to measure the amount of fly ash and other solids emitted—will be rented on a cost basis from Vancouver city.

The above points emerged yesterday in a report by William Jorgenson, new head of the city's planning and inspection division.

FLY ASH SECOND

It was released by Ald. Geoffrey Edgelow, chairman of the city's smoke advisory board.

The fly ash problem, subject of long and bitter complaints from many residents and motel operators in the north end of the city, will be tackled second.

Four steps will be taken on smoke violations:

SEEK SOURCE

First violation—smoke inspector will go directly to the operator of the plant, seek the source of the trouble and recommend how it can be overcome.

Second violation — a notice will be sent to the owner of the plant, reporting the offence.

Third violation — a second notice will be sent to the owner.

BROUGHT TO COURT

Fourth violation—the owner will be warned by registered mail that evidence has been collected and the matter will be brought to court.

Mr. Jorgenson's report said that once smoke samplers are installed and a fly ash violation found, the operators of the plant will be advised and given the necessary time to instal corrective equipment.

UNTIL EQUIPMENT

No further checks of that smokestack will be made until the equipment is in.

There is no way to operate the stack samplers without the plant operators knowing they are being checked.

Vancouver's smoke inspector Joseph Satterthwaite has not yet been asked if stack samplers can be rented.

BASED ON BYLAW

Mr. Jorgenson said the procedure planned here is based on the procedure in Vancouver. Victoria's smoke bylaw was based on the Vancouver bylaw.

The report asks for direction on when the samplers should be obtained.

Mr. Jorgenson said the bylaw makes provision for civil action which could be launched by a private householder or businessman.

"Under this clause the policy

Filthy Baby Farm Found in Toronto

TORONTO (CP)—Welfare officials are looking for parents whose children — left for the day at a neat, clean home in the suburbs—later turned up in a "terribly filthy place."

Police and public health officials received reports that someone was operating a "baby farm" at a downtown address, and Miss Florence Schill of the Children's Aid Society said the Scarborough home was apparently a "front."

Officials said Friday the parents, who apparently thought their children were being cared for at a modern bungalow in suburban Scarborough, may have to prove they are fit to care for them before they get them back.

TODDLERS FOUND

Police said a total of 23 toddlers, ranging in age from three months to two years, were found Thursday at a large, dingy, downtown house. Many of them had been taken there from the Scarborough home.

When police raided the downtown premises a car containing seven children was driven away — presumably to deliver the youngsters back to their parents.

FOUND IN CAR

Sixteen children were found in a car outside the home. Eight were turned over to the Roman Catholic Children's Aid Society and one other—originally turned over to the Catholic group—was returned to its mother.

John Melichercik, director of family services for the Catholic society, said he had heard from "two or three" other parents, but said the babies would be returned only in cases where parents can show they are able to provide for them.

KEEP CHILDREN

The metro group announced it will keep the seven children it has until juvenile court rules on their fate—likely early next week.

Mr. Melichercik said the woman who regained her child was a working mother who was upset to learn of conditions in the place where her child was found.

PARENTS UNAWARE

He said it appeared from telephone interviews with parents that they were not aware that their children were being taken to the downtown premises.

One children's aid worker described the large house as "a terribly filthy place" where several large cats roamed and where the children were kept in smelly, dirty cribs.

CLOTHES IN RAGS

Insp. Walter Johnston said the children's good clothing was taken off when they left the Scarborough home and they were then clothed in rags.

"When they were returned to their parents, they were washed and dressed in their own clothes."

Students Celebrate

More than 1,000 students completing Grade 12 in five local high schools last night took part in graduation ceremonies. ## Boy Survives Lethal Spray

KAMLOOPS (CP)—A four-year-old boy was flown to hospital here by helicopter Friday after drinking a near-lethal dose of fly spray.

During the 80-mile flight from Clearwater, pilot Bill Harvey landed his helicopter to administer an antidote to David McTague. Later, the boy's heart stopped and Harvey and the father, Harry McTague, revived him with artificial respiration in flight.

Wall Mirror Sets Mystery Fire

TOWSON, Md. (AP)—Mirror, mirror, tell me true: Who set the fire—was it you?

Towson firemen are asking that question after a fire mysteriously broke out in the home of Mr. and Mrs. Fred Stiever Thursday.

The only possible cause, the firemen decided, was that the sun's rays struck the mirror and were reflected onto a bed. They said no one had been in the suburban Baltimore home for eight hours before the short-lived blaze.

Fresh, Brief Boost

Dying Art of the Whistle Stop Revived by Happy Diefenbaker

MONCTON, N.B. (CP) — The dying art of whistle-stop electioneering got a fresh but brief boost from Prime Minister Diefenbaker Friday.

He roared across the rolling Quebec and New Brunswick countryside by train—hopping out of his special car for some fast electioneering on station platforms.

It was a 490-mile, five-stop trip at the tail-end of the CNR's Ocean Limited from Levis, Que., to Moncton where he opened a $1,500,000 extension to the local post office and was to address a night rally.

Two thousand school children jammed the platform at Campbellton, N.B. Mr. Diefenbaker was presented a crate of fresh salmon by eight-year-old Terry Raymond, who delivered a speech he wrote himself in French and English.

"Now if he'll just throw it to me," said Mr. Diefenbaker, "I'd be able to say I caught my first salmon."

There were small but friendly crowds at Bathurst, Newcastle and Harcourt as the prime minister travelled through four New Brunswick ridings, three of them held by Conservatives in the last Parliament.

Mrs. Diefenbaker left the campaign coach at Newcastle to fly to Prince Edward Island for a quick afternoon tour.

SHOOK HANDS

Under brilliant sunshine, the prime minister shook scores of hands, made brief speeches with the barest mentions of the June 18 election, and apparently enjoyed himself.

After slipping a white ribbon to open the new federal building here, Mr. Diefenbaker strolled back to the Brunswick Hotel.

At the door, he was stopped by Mrs. G. H. Craig who sold him a red rose on behalf of the Imperial Order Daughters of the Empire.

Mr. Diefenbaker had no change with him—so an aide put up the money.

'I May Be Shot' Dog-Tag Warns

MEDIA, Pa. (AP) — The community of Rutledge has come up with a version of the talking dog.

In an effort to solve one of the Delaware County Borough's most vexing problems—dogs running loose—a cardboard tag will be attached to the collars of stray dogs. On one side will be the word, "warning." On the other:

"I have been violating the law. Ordinance 248, Rutledge Borough, states that no dogs are permitted to run at large.

"I am subject to being shot. You are subject to being fined from $5 to $50.

"Please watch over me more carefully. We may not be so lucky the next time.

"Let's help to be good neighbors and keep Rutledge a nice place to live. Thank you for your co-operation."

A Sad but Charming Drama

Tiny Heroine Flees False Honor

LONDON (AP)—Police and parents Friday pieced together the sad but charming drama of a 10-year-old girl, hailed for six months as a local heroine.

Since last January, just about everyone in nearby Richmond believed Tina Stapley had rescued her schoolmate, Paula Thomas, from drowning in the River Thames.

Thursday was to be Tina's big day.

Officials of the Royal Humane Society were to present her their coveted award for bravery. The 240 pupils of Orchard County primary school were ready to applaud.

But, six hours beforehand, Tina disappeared.

Paula vanished, too.

On her dressing table, Tina's mother found a note: "Dearest mummy — I have to run away. I didn't rescue Paula. We were just playing."

Meanwhile police picked up Tina and Paula, wandering hand-in-hand down a side street.

They broke into tears and confessed everything.

Paula had slipped into the river near their home. But the water was only knee deep.

Watching Paula splash around, Tina jumped in beside her.

They began splashing water on one another and, soaked, they got out.

A passerby saw them. He called a constable. The constable summoned an ambulance.

"Then things got out of hand," explained Paula's mother. "Their imaginations went to work—and pretty soon Tina was a heroine."

Mrs. Thomas added:

"My daughter wants to be a writer. Tina wants to be an actress. I suppose the rescue was a natural collaboration."

With G. E. Mortimore

A gruesome movie of smashed cars and flying bodies has been making the rounds in Victoria.

It's the University of California film on auto accidents, currently being peddled by that accident-prevention zealot Const. Tom Smith of the traffic division, city police.

These are contrived accidents. The university people played Fate and made them happen—after calculating the force of impact and marking the spot with an X on the pavement.

It was all figured out with the greatest care—a process that occupied days. There was a countdown, as at Cape Canaveral, the cars were launched along their pre-determined paths, and smash! they met.

As the cars hit, often as not their doors burst open and the occupants went flying out, smashing their heads and necks and crushing their insides.

It didn't matter, because the occupants were human-like dummies.

And after these accidents that were fated to happen, the experts spent days more, studying the results.

Seat Belts Safe

The most important conclusion was this: Seat belts save lives.

The dummies that were strapped in suffered little damage. Those that were not strapped in most frequently went flying out the door, or forward, to smash themselves against steering wheel or windshield.

It pays to use seat belts. You may not believe it, but 73 per cent of fatal accidents happen at moderate speeds within a fairly short distance of the victims' homes.

Thousands of people are dead because the force of impact at fairly low speed sent them hurtling out the door.

People know this, but they aren't anxious to buy seat belts. So I was told by Bruce Passmore, after I had seen the movie in the stock room of his garage.

Safety features don't help to sell cars, Mr. Passmore says. But in the long run, keeping the customers alive should be good for business.

By the way, it was Mr. Passmore who convinced the provincial government that all the 3,000 government cars should be equipped with safety belts.

Mr. Passmore bid on the contract but he didn't get it. He was beaten by an Eastern supplier who undercut his price by 15 cents.

Life can be difficult for diabetic children and their parents. The children can't have pop and candy. This prohibition may save their teeth from rotting, but it takes some of the fun out of life.

They need more attention from the doctor than normal children — and yet they don't show their defect outwardly, so they don't get much sympathy.

Need Special Diet

They can't go to a normal camp in the summer, because they need special diet and the supervision of doctors and nurses.

There is going to be a camp for 40 diabetic children at Penticton in July. Fees to the parents will be $35—a low rate set for the benefit of hard-pressed people who have to foot many heavy bills.

Actual cost for each child will be $150. The Diabetic Association is trying to raise $1,500 to $2,000 in order to make up the difference, for the 14 Vancouver Island children who are going to the camp.

Receipts are income-tax deductible. Taggers are sought, also, for a tag-day, June 23. Get in touch with Mrs. Douglas L. Brown, president, Diabetic Association, in care of St. Joseph's Hospital Nurses' Home, or at GR 7-1200; or Mrs. J. Lee, 18 Wellington, phone EV 4-7967.

gorges, some 300 feet deep, were rotten and dangerous.

PHONE HOMES

"We were three days overdue at one point, but one of the lighthouse keepers along the line let us phone our homes to tell our wives we were all right," said Mr. Witham.

They carried sleeping bags and 100-pound packs of supplies, which included "iron" rations of beans, meat, cheese, nuts, dried fruit, raisins, sunflower seeds, hardtack, salt, tea and sugar.

They carried no weapons except an axe and machete for clearing brush.

"When we arrived at Carmanah lighthouse, somehow or other the Indians had got word to the lighthouse keepers we were coming.

"They gave us a wonderful welcome — washed and dried our clothes. It was the first time we had been dry in four days," recalled Mr. Witham.

PRIZE HEIRLOOM

Farther along, Nitinat Indians offered them hospitality and showed off artifacts and a prize heirloom — an ancient piece of deck ordnance from an old sailing ship.

The story goes the tribe fired turnips from the cannon when they ran out of iron balls.

"They wanted to sell it to us—but it was a little too heavy to take along."

The Indians gave them a lift across the Nitinat River in a dugout canoe to another warm welcome at Pachena lighthouse.

During their trip, they learned the rusted and creaking cable cars and suspension bridges they used to cross the numerous streams had been condemned by the department of transport.

At the Klanawa River, they found seals had swept the waters of steelhead.

One memorable stop was in a cave east of the Pachena lighthouse. The walls were covered with Indian carvings — "wonderful drawings of animals," said Mr. Witham.

They hitched a ride to Port Alberni on a missionary boat when they arrived at Bamfield and returned to Sooke by bus.

"It's unfortunate something could not be done to repair the trail," said Mr. Witham, "it's probably the most picturesque hiking trail throughout the Island but it's the toughest one I've ever tackled."

Too Much, Too Little Sleeping Mean Lost Time, Cat-Naps

By JOSEPH MOLNER, MD

"We were arguing on the subject of whether a person can get too much sleep. I say the human body is made so it won't let us get too much. Am I right?—Sgt. W. W.

For practical purposes, you are pretty much right. When we have had enough sleep, we wake up refreshed. Some people who don't get up until noon on Sundays aren't really sleeping—just drowsing and being lazy.

Other times they may be sleeping, catching up on what they've missed earlier in the week. It doesn't hurt a person to sleep for prolonged periods, 12 or even 24 hours at a stretch, if he or she is tired enough to need it.

My guess, from casual observation, is that about as many of us sleep too much as too little. The oversleepers waste part of their lives. And those who try to get along on too little usually make up for it by being only half-awake or taking cat-naps when the boss isn't looking.

SLEEP LONGER

By and large nature demands the proper amount. Babies need about 20 hours a day, an adult about 8, give or take a little. Most of us adjust to a routine of one sort or another, depending on when we have to get to school, or to work, or when we have something we want to do. Bored people probably sleep longer.

People like Thomas A. Edison used to claim that a very brief night's sleep was enough, but the way I hear it, he learned to grab cat-naps in idle moments all day long to make up.

Dear Dr. Molner: What causes infectious mononucleosis? Is there a cure?—Mrs. B. G.

Probably a virus. There is no cure in the sense of a treatment that puts an end to the disease, just as there is no cure for a cold. But both are self-limiting diseases which cure themselves. Mono, however, takes longer often a month or more, and the lassitude and tiredness are way out of proportion to the rather mild symptoms such as moderate elevation of temperature, mild sore throat, and other cold-like annoyances.

Berliners Escape

Liquor Help To Freedom

BERLIN (AP)—A crew led by the ship's cook knocked out the captain with liquor and a blow on the head and raced an East Berlin excursion boat to freedom Friday amid a barrage of machine-gun bullets.

Fourteen refugees, including a 14 - month - old baby, made shore unhurt after the 386-ton vessel churned across the River Spree into a canal bank in the American sector of West Berlin.

The white double-deck boat was riddled by more than 200 bullets fired by East German guards as it swung off course at top speed toward the West.

FIRED SHOTS

West Berlin police fired at least 10 shots at East Berlin guards when Communist bullets began ripping into apartment houses on the Western side.

With Joerg Lindner, the 22-year-old cook on the escape boat Friedrich Wolf were seven men and five women, among them Lindner's 17-year-old girl friend Jutta and her baby.

SECOND ATTEMPT

It was the second attempt the group had made in a week to escape. A previous attempt on another river excursion boat had to be abandoned when a passing barge blocked the way into the Landwehr Canal in Western territory at the critical moment.

Thursday night, Lindner and the steward, Dieter, who wants to keep his last name secret, decided to make another try.

The Friedrich Wolf, named for a Communist poet, was being overhauled at Treptow pier on the Spree in readiness for the opening of the river boat season this weekend.

JOINED PLOT

Two mechanics came to work on the vessel and Lindner said, "Boldly . . . I filled them in on our plan. They joined the plot."

The plotters said they poured most of four bottles of brandy, a bottle of wine and 12 pints of beer into the captain and engineer, but only pretended to drink themselves.

After the boat reached the West, someone freed the captain and engineer. Within 10 minutes the boat was on its way back to East Berlin.

Russian Warning

MOSCOW (Reuters) — Russia has warned the U.S., Britain and France that she "may be compelled . . . to take necessary measures" as a result of "dangerous provocations" by West German police.

Russia blamed West Berlin police and "fascist elements" for incidents including the killing of an East German border guard.

Key Figures

Fraud Arrests Hit Probe Duo

TORONTO (CP) — Two key figures in Ontario's royal commission crime inquiry were arrested unexpectedly Friday on a fraud charge that apparently had nothing to do with the investigation of the provincial underworld.

Joseph McDermott and Vincent Feeley, dabblers in mining ventures as well as reputed co-czars of Ontario gambling, were charged with defrauding a mining concern of $25,000 in a transaction involving mineral claims they owned in northwestern Ontario.

The move came as a surprise to officials of the royal commission, whose hearings since March 21 have been largely centred around McDermott-Feeley operations and who currently have hit a temporary block in Feeley's unwillingness to testify about his personal finances.

Feeley's lawyer will argue before the Ontario Court of Appeal Monday that the commission cannot force him to give evidence that could incriminate himself. He objected on this ground Thursday when the commission called for his income tax returns since 1953.

Pending a decision from the high court, Mr. Justice W. D. Roach, the commissioner, has adjourned the hearings. A decision is expected early next week.

Feeley told the commission briefly that he was an investor in Krno Mines Limited, whose claims in the Big Duck Lake area are involved in the fraud charge.

Laos Trio Pauses To Reflect

KHANG KHAY (AP) — The three feuding princes of Laos encountered sudden delay Friday after a fast start on forming a coalition government for the embattled southeast Asia kingdom. Distribution of cabinet posts appeared to be causing trouble.

Neutralist Prince Souvanna Phouma, backed by both the United States and the Soviet Union to head a coalition, announced the princely summit meeting decided to adjourn until Monday.

"One or two unsettled points obliged us to postpone the meeting," he said.

Souvanna said one question still to be settled is who will represent a Vientiane group of neutrals in the coalition.

Pakistan Launches Weather Rocket

Vancouver Chinese Plan Refugee Aid

VANCOUVER (CP) — Vancouver's Chinese community, at a mass meeting today, will map plans to help 100 refugee families from Hong Kong make new homes in Canada.

Prominent Chinese Canadians and representatives of some 60 Chinese societies in Greater Vancouver will attend the meeting, said Quon Wong, secretary of the Chinese Benevolent Association.

Dramatic Proof

'Truth' by Hypnosis Ends Threat to Life

COLUMBUS, Ohio (UPI)—A man on trial for his life dramatically proved under hypnosis yesterday he did not deliberately kill his estranged wife's lover.

The state immediately accepted the new evidence in the history-making case and reduced the charge which carried a possible death penalty. Arthur C. Nebb then pleaded guilty to manslaughter and aggravated assault and was sentenced to one to 20 years in prison.

CUT CHARGE

"He convinced me under hypnosis that he did not intentionally kill the man who died," Prosecutor Earl W. Allison said. "For that reason we reduced the charge to manslaughter."

Allison said this was the first time he had heard of hypnosis being used in an Ohio trial. "In fact, I don't know of any place in the country where it has been used," he said. "I have to admit it was most unusual."

Nebb was indicted for first degree murder in the death of Estel Stepp, 25, Inez, Ky., here last Sept. 14.

However, Allison said he obtained information during the hypnotic examination that he probably would not having gotten under ordinary cross-examination.

Executive Facing Tax Charge

VANCOUVER (CP)—A Crown prosecutor said Friday four men split the profit on 2,000 tons of Belgian steel imported by the Dominion Bridge Company in 1950 and sold privately.

Mary Southin said Alan Gentles, former manager of Dominion Bridge, was one of the four.

Gentles, now retired, appeared in police court on charges of evading income tax payments of $43,630 in 1950-52. The case was adjourned until Wednesday.

Freedom in Contempt

CARDINAL to the basic concept inscribed in the Canadian Bill of Rights are freedom of speech and freedom of assembly and association. Premier Joseph Smallwood, the Liberal dictator of Newfoundland, obviously holds these freedoms in contempt.

In an action surely unparalleled in Canadian history he has interfered with the operations of a private organization and compelled it to his political aims and purposes.

By forcing the Rotary Club of St. John's to prevent Finance Minister Fleming from giving the address he had been invited by the club to give—under threat of dire consequences to the club if it disobeyed him—Mr. Smallwood revealed himself in his true colors. They are not pleasant ones. They are uncomfortably reminiscent of dictators like Hitler, Castro, Franco and other political bosses who rule with a rod of iron.

They also seem to reflect the pattern of the attempts made during the current election campaign to prevent Prime Minister Diefenbaker from speaking at open meetings.

The excuse voiced for his action by the Newfoundland premier—"shaking with rage," we are told—was that Mr. Fleming's talk on the subject of devaluation would in view of the election campaign be nothing but Tory propaganda.

Devaluation has become a topic of national interest transcending party nuance even if the Liberals have seized on it as a political weapon. The public is interested in its pros and cons apart from politics. One can reasonably assume that in an address to the St. John's Rotary Club, composed no doubt of members of varying political faiths, Mr. Fleming would hew to an objective line and not try to gain any particular advantage.

Even did he no on occasions of this nature while the election is on, the accusation is farcical. The country is currently drenched with propaganda of all kinds from all parties. In essence Mr. Fleming's would have been but one more political speech, carrying no special weight because delivered to a private club. He could make the same speech on another platform and it would have exactly the same effect.

But even when Mr. Fleming, sitting at the luncheon table waiting to speak, offered to change the subject of his address, Premier Smallwood turned thumbs down. He would not allow the finance minister even to stand up and make his own withdrawal of the invitation to speak. Dictatorship can scarcely go further.

The Rotary Club of St. John's bowed to his decree and to his sinister threat that otherwise he would withdraw provincial sponsorship of a regional Rotary convention dinner next week, and further, that he would "hinder future activities" of the club.

Mr. Smallwood is a political boss with a vengeance, and on a scale one had not thought possible in Canada.

And, the colossal effrontery of it, the same Mr. Smallwood is scheduled to address Rotarians in St. John's next week—while the election campaign is still going on!

Liberals all across the country, one feels sure, will with all others view the Newfoundland premier with the distaste that his intemperate and arbitrary behavior fully warrants.

Connecting the Islands

THE B.C. TOLL Authority plans to call tenders at the beginning of next month for a 40-car, 400-passenger ferry which should be ready for the Gulf Islands service by next summer.

This will be a welcome addition to the provincial government's fleet, the more so among residents of the islands because it will restore their direct link with the mainland, cut when Coast Ferries Limited dropped its service from Steveston.

Southern Vancouver Island can hardly begrudge such a restoration, even if the islands are on "our" side of the gulf, for they draw much of their visitor-trade from Vancouver, and many of their residents and property-owners have mainland connections and interests. That much must be granted.

But the plan appears to be to have the new ferry run only from Tsawwassen to the islands and then back to Tsawwassen. And if this is the case, Victoria has reason to be concerned.

In such circumstance, with a modern ferry between the islands and the mainland and an inferior service connecting them to Swartz Bay, southern Vancouver Island would stand to lose business it traditionally—and properly, through close association—has had.

It also would fail to gain the additional business that might be anticipated if there were two ferry routes all the way between the mainland and Vancouver Island terminals; the fast and direct one, and the Gulf Islands service with its greater appeal from the point of view of many tourists.

Surely therefore the new ferry should have Swartz Bay as one end of its run, and Victoria's business and civic leaders should not rest until the toll authority has made its plans accordingly.

Proving Its Worth

ALREADY in its brief existence the meat inspection depot established this week in Victoria has rejected as unfit for human consumption internal organs from several freshly slaughtered animals. Thus the examination service may be deemed to have quickly proved its worth.

Had the rejected meat been sold to butchers without inspection, if thoroughly cooked it probably would have done no harm. Moreover, one must grant that most butchers undoubtedly would have found it failed to meet their own standards and would not have accepted it.

But the discovery of diseased meat in the comparatively small quantity inspected at the depot in a few days dispels any notion that unwholesomeness is an extremely rare quality in the livestock produced in this area and not worth bothering about. At the same time it gives consumers the welcome assurance of protection against failure by suppliers to recognize unfitness in meat, which could be compounded by mischance in preparation.

The experience in the new depot also goes to emphasize that Greater Victoria is not alone in needing inspection for locally-slaughtered meat; that government action to establish similar inspection throughout British Columbia is imperative.

The Pressures of Technology

By MARQUIS CHILDS

WHETHER man is master of the advanced technology he has brought into being or whether it has come to rule his life is a deeply disturbing question for which at the moment there is no answer.

To provide the amazingly complex devices of modern war the United States country is spending more than $50 billion a year. But in the jet-nuclear age it is not only in war and the prelude of cold war that technology threatens to reduce the individual to a unit, a number, if it does not exterminate him altogether.

Recent disasters to the jet aircraft that demolish space and time throw into sharp relief the relationship between the individual and big organization in government and in industry that increasingly dominates our world. Introduction of the jets has disrupted the air transport industry and brought into sudden sharp focus challenging decisions government must make.

The cost of the big jet passenger planes has brought large entries in red ink for many of the big airlines. One consequence is the pressure for mergers. Hearings are now being held into the proposal to merge Eastern and American. The combined line would be far and away the largest domestic carrier.

This would dwarfed, however, by another still in the talk stage. Pan American World Airways is proposing to absorb Trans-World Airlines. If that happens, with eventual government sanction, it would be a long step toward making Pan Am the "chosen instrument" for America's overseas operation. Pan Am, under the merger, would have the Atlantic exclusively, but Northwest Airlines would still be a rival in the Pacific and Braniff and Panagra would be the competition in Latin America.

Before it can happen a great many searching questions will be asked. Senator Mike Monroney, chairman of an aviation subcommittee of the Senate with a broad knowledge of the air transport industry, is beginning to ask some of those questions. Is competition important in maintaining standards? If there is to be an overseas monopoly, should this be a private company controlled by a few individuals or should it be a government monopoly?

* * *

When it comes to individuals, one name stands out. Juan Trippe has been president of Pan Am since it was founded 35 years ago. From that start carrying the mail from Key West to Havana—he has done extraordinary pioneering in almost every corner of the globe.

A great many adjectives, both flattering and unflattering, have been applied to Trippe as he has pushed Pan Am to a point at which its operating revenue last year was nearly a half-billion dollars. He has been called ruthless, domineering, overweeningly ambitious, while at the same time due recognition has been paid to his achievements.

Ambition to one side, certain external forces are working for the merger. Trans-World Airliners are badly snarled. With the enigmatic Howard Hughes owning 78 per cent of the stock trustees are trying to direct the line amidst a welter of lawsuits. Last year TWA lost $14,745,000, and the loss for the first quarter this year after tax credits was $13,402,000.

Trippe is pointing out that a European Common Market airline is likely to come into being. Although the Rome Treaty exempts air and sea transport for two years, Air France, Alitalia, Sabena (Belgian), and Lufthansa (German) lines have been discussing a confederation for operating economies if not a merger under the name Europe Air.

Recently KLM, the Dutch line with worldwide operation, has shown an interest in the proposal. Obviously, says Trippe, if America is to compete there must be one powerful American flag line.

* * *

All this will be threshed over as pressure for the merger grows. But in the meantime the financial plight of the airlines is acute. One of the most noted and objective authorities, Harry P. Guggenheim, whose benefactions through various family foundations have advanced not only aviation but the development of missiles and rockets, suggested in a speech the other day that there might be a relationship between safety and the financial troubles of the industry.

Despite meticulous regulations, he told the annual meeting of the Cornell-Guggenheim Aviation Safety Centre, forces may be working, to the detriment of safe operation in a profitless and, therefore, an unhealthy industry. He said:

"The president and the Congress are faced with either permitting the carriers to make a profit or with the unpleasant necessity of taking over and operating the air transport system after a large part of it has become bankrupt. We have had every manner of investigation of our needs in air transport but the basic financial one. That is how much money is now needed and will be needed in the near and distant future to keep the United States foremost in aviation and to make the airlines safe for its citizens."

The pressures of swiftly changing technology are relentless and, above all, in one direction—centralization of power. Perhaps mergers are inevitable. But they are not the answer to the larger question of where control lies and how it is exercised.

Turkish University

Window on West

From a Special OPNS Correspondent

THE foundation stone of what promises to be the largest university in the world, the Middle East Technical University, has been laid by President Gursel of Turkey. It will be located four miles outside the Turkish capital, Ankara, and provisionally 11,000 acres have been roped off from the immensity of the gaunt Anatolian steppes as the "campus."

The METU project dates back eight years to the Menderes period. The idea was, and still is, to create, under Turkish control and with mainly Western aid, a new international university which will channel Western science and technology to the Middle East.

* * *

The realization of this ambitious concept has not been seriously disturbed by the political instability which has afflicted Turkey during the past few years. It was supported by the Menderes government, by the military interregnum, and it is being given full backing by the present government. There is reason to believe that any government brought to power by a further upheaval in Turkey, though it might well change the details, would be unlikely to scrap the vast enterprise altogether.

Begun in 1956, METU now has 963 students and a teaching and administrative staff of 160. Though the new university has received little publicity, it is now beginning to be known beyond the area of the Middle East. The majority of the students are Turks, but there are others from Cyprus, Israel, Iran, most of the Arab countries, Pakistan, India, Indonesia, Tanganyika and South Africa. In addition, there are four American students, and one Chinese from Formosa.

The campus of 11,000 acres is for a provisional 12,000 students, though a final membership, when the university gets into its stride in 15 or 20 years' time, of 20,000 students and more is envisaged. The cost of establishing such an institution has been estimated at over $150,000,000.

* * *

It is designed as a technical institution able to supply the countries of the Middle East, as they develop into more industrialized societies, with the scientists, technicians and administrators they will need. One of the most important functions will be the school of administrative science, teaching Western methods of public administration, generally recognized to be one of the most vital needs of less developed societies.

The four faculties now in existence in temporary premises in Ankara are: architecture and city planning, engineering (of all types), arts and sciences, and administrative science, which comprises public service and business administration. To these, in the near future, will be added agriculture and forestry (a subject of vast importance to the whole of the Middle East), and nuclear physics. The university will also have a strong research wing.

Financial assistance has come partly from the Turkish government, partly from foreign aid channelled through various international bodies, especially from the Unesco Special Fund, and partly from direct bilateral aid to Turkey. Britain, the U.S., West Germany, Holland, and Japan have been the chief contributors. The Turkish government allocates about £2 million a year to METU.

* * *

Britain, the chief foreign contributor, has supplied about £100,000 of aid in the form of staff and technical equipment, mainly through the Central Treaty Organization. Three British professors are on the teaching staff, while three more are likely to be provided at short notice. Britain also hopes to supply the university with a complete radio isotope laboratory.

The METU has aroused less criticism than might have been expected. What criticism there has been came chiefly from extreme nationalist circles at the decision that English should be the teaching language. It is generally recognized, however, that apart from the convenience of English as a technical medium it is a suitable language for use in what is actually an international university located on Turkish soil. Most Turks have realized that the successful development of the university, as well as helping to supply Turkey with the scientists and technicians she needs, will contribute to Turkish prestige.

A good start has been made by the planting of a vast new forest. Nothing is more desperately needed on the eroded hills of Turkey's central plateau than a few million trees. If this were done, it could arrest the present decline of once fertile lands into a desert. Students, working with Turkish peasants, have already planted some half a million trees — pines, oaks, maples, chestnuts and poplars. The forest will ultimately have 17 million trees.

"The university will grow hand in hand with the forest," said the rector, Dr. Kurdas. "Universities, like forests, grow slowly. It is important that they should grow well. The university will be, for Turkey and the whole of the Middle East, a window on the West."

The Packsack

Of GREGORY CLARK

THE snub season has arrived. For the next couple of months, we men are going to be in wrong with half our female acquaintances.

The reason being that our female acquaintances are going behind their sun glasses. And who among us can be expected to recognize a lady-friend behind a mask?

It is bad enough trying to remember them under the best of circumstances, the way they keep changing their dresses, wearing fantastic hats that alter their entire personalities, one day appearing tailored, the next, all festooned with beads and ruffles. They change the color of their hair, and the shape of it. Some times they are short, wearing those creepy low heelless shoes. Next time you see them, they are a foot higher, on spike heels. Their lips are bright red one time, purple the next; their mouths thin ascetic bows on a Sunday, and as big as a slice of cantaloupe on Monday.

And then in June, they go behind the black mask of grotesque sun glasses.

Do you know something? Maybe the ladies are flattered when you fail to recognize them. Why else are they always disguising themselves?

A Growth Problem

By CHARLES KEELY from Washington

LATIN America's skyrocketing population growth will create acute problems in that volatile region unless food supplies can be greatly increased.

This is the opinion of U.S. officials who say the population of Latin America will reach 400 million by 1990.

Although agriculture is the dominant activity in the 20 Latin American republics — nearly 60 per cent of the 198 million people live in rural areas — very little is being done to increase agricultural production, methods and technology.

One of the few agencies engaged in this critical work survived possible extinction in recent days when the Organization of American States assured the United Nations it would increase to $1,100,000 the annual budget of the Inter-American Institutes of Agricultural Sciences, located in Costa Rica.

The United Nations had promised to match the funds over a five-year period, but the two-year-old offer would have expired May 31.

* * *

Overcoming opposition from Chile, which maintained Cuba would also have to ratify the new budget, the OAS agreed to increase the institute's budget from $400,000 to the new figure by July 1, thus qualifying for counterpart United Nations funds of $4,000,000 over the next five years.

The lack of trained agronomists in Latin America is pointed up in 1958 figures from the University of Buenos Aires which show that only 2.1 per cent of its students were engaged in agricultural training as opposed to 25.5 per cent studying medicine and 18.6 per cent studying law.

"There is a tremendous urgency for trained agronomists in Latin America," says Dr. Norberto Ras, the institute's permanent delegate here.

Dr. Ras says the matching OAS and United Nations funds will help the institute reinforce all lines of its work. The institute has awarded advanced agronomy degrees to 8,000 Latin Americans since 1954.

"Latin America has approximately 16,000 agronomists today," says Ras. "It needs 43,000."

The Inter-American institute maintains training and educational centres in Turrialba, Costa Rica (for tropical climates) and in San Roman, Uruguay (for temperate climate studies). Research centres are located in Montevideo, San Jose and Lima.

The OAS institute is currently training about 1,500 students a year in short term courses and in the full-year program at Turrialba and San Roman.

The technical training staff numbers 124. Ras hopes to increase this when the new budget is approved.

Courses include plant genetics, animal husbandry, rural sociology, forestry and plant physiology.

* * *

One-fourth of Latin America's area of 7,700,000 square miles is classed as unproductive and one-fourth is currently in active use. Cultivated lands comprise only five per cent and pasturelands makes up 20 per cent, according to agriculture department figures.

Many U.S. officials claim the success of the Alliance for Progress hinges on increased agricultural techniques and land resettlement in Latin America.

Even Split?

By ARTHUR BLAKELY

THE Liberals are favored to make moderate gains in New Brunswick.

In 1958, seven of the province's 10 House of Commons seats went to the Conservatives, as a modest contribution to the national landslide.

Since then, the winds of change have swept over the province. The Flemming government, which seemed strongly entrenched but two years before, was swept out of office in June, 1960. The provincial Conservatives are leaderless. And their federal candidates are in a position where they must fend for themselves.

The Liberals, on the other hand, are assured of the all-out backing of Premier Louis Robichaud.

Social Credit and New Democratic Party candidates aren't regarded as serious contenders anywhere, though such support as they can secure may have an effect on the main bouts between Liberal and Tory candidates.

* * *

At this stage of the campaign, the Liberals seem likely to come out of New Brunswick with no worse than a 5-5 split, as traditionally Liberal ridings begin to swing back to that party. They could do better.

This is how the election battle in New Brunswick seems to shape up on a riding-by-riding basis:

Charlotte: R. D. Caldwell Stewart, who picked this one off for the Tories in 1958, is fighting hard to hold it against a potent Liberal entry, A. M. A. McLean, president of the Connors Brothers fish packing plant. Elections here have been decided by small margins for many years back. Each of the big parties claims it, while keeping its fingers crossed. A toss-up.

Gloucester: H. J. Robichaud, the Liberal encumbent, is expected to win handily, though the PC entry, Antonio Robichaud, no relation, is putting up quite a fight.

Kent: H. J. Michaud, who held it for the Liberals through the 1957-58 gales, has been turned out to pasture.

The move has left some resentment. But his replacement, Guy Crossman, looks like a winner.

Northumberland-Miramichi: Liberal G. Roy McWilliam seems to have a big edge over an inexperienced but promising Conservative entry.

Restigouche-Madawaska: A close contest looked for here between Conservative Edgar Fournier and Liberal Jean-Eden Dube, with the edge going to the latter.

Royal: Now that ex-Premier Flemming has moved to his home riding of Victoria-Carleton, ex-attorney-general Gordon Fairweather will try to hold this seat for the Conservatives. He should be able to do it. The riding has strong Conservative leanings.

* * *

Saint John-Albert: If the Liberals can stage a real upset in New Brunswick, this may be the place. Parliamentary Secretary Tom Bell, unable to spend much time at home, faces tough opposition in Liberal George T. Urquhart, a tireless worker with a well-organized campaign. The riding tends to vote Conservative, but occasionally kicks up its heels. Encumbent Bell seems to have an edge.

Victoria-Carlton: If ex-Premier Flemming loses this rock-bound riding with its long string of Conservative triumphs, there should be a saliva test.

Westmorland: Moncton's Mayor Sherwood Rideut is favored to recapture this riding from W. L. M. Creachan, who won it for the PCs in 1958. The constituency normally returns a Liberal. Creachan's record is good, but his campaign isn't drawing on the national campaign for impetus as it did in 1958. Chief concern of the Liberals is that the NDP may siphon off enough anti-government votes to hurt them.

York-Sunbury: This is another marginal riding held by the Conservatives since the 1937-58 elections. Chester MacRae is battling hard to hold it against Liberal David Dickson (who lost in 1958). The issue here may well be decided by the service votes from huge Camp Gagetown. In recent years, the Conservatives haven't been able to break the Liberal hold on the service voters.

Hecklers Take Over Candidates Shout And Oysters Sizzle

By PETER BRUTON

The hecklers took over last night and dished out a heady mixture of barbs and humor as all four Esquimalt-Saanich candidates tried to present their views to some 120 people at Strawberry Vale Community Hall.

"It's been a lot of fun, actually," said Conservative George Chatterton as he edged out ahead of time to keep a television appointment. But his smile looked a little strained.

Each candidate had a loyal band of supporters to cheer him and to throw interjections at the other three opponents.

And the inevitable Socialist Party of Canada hecklers were only too happy to dish it out to all.

The candidates—Conservative Chatterton, Liberal David Groos, Social Crediter Reginald Pring, and the NDP's Geoff Mitchell—tried but never did manage to get the better of the hecklers.

Mr. Pring was given the roughest time—especially for his stand on nuclear weapons.

"Far be it from me to advocate that we get them . . ." he said. "But if the rest of the world gets them, we have to get them, too."

And he suggested Canada's national flag should have three colors—white, red and yellow.

"White for surrender," he explained. "Red for communism, and yellow for the streak running down our backs."

"Yaah!" yelled the audience.

Speakers had more than the hecklers to contend with.

Throughout the evening there was a loud sizzling from the kitchen where cooks deep-fried oysters for the free oysterburgers given the audience after the meeting ended.

Each candidate had 15 minutes to speak, then a further five minutes later to rebut the statements of his opponents.

Grit Attacks Tories

Mr. Groos charged that the Tories had mismanaged the nation's affairs and pointed to the deficit financing and unemployment.

"Ho, ho, from the Liberals," called a man.

"This is getting kind of fun," said Mr. Groos.

"Shenanigans is the word," came a voice.

"We must have new plans and new policies . . ." began the speaker.

"From the same tired old men," called a Tory.

"From the same old tired men if you like," said Mr. Groos.

Mr. Groos turned to nuclear weapons and the risk of war when he spotted Glen Hamilton, NDP candidate in the byelection a year ago, in the audience.

"Hi, Glen," said Mr. Groos.

"Hi, Dave," said Mr. Hamilton.

"We miss him," the Liberal told his audience.

"Aw, why don't you merge?" came a voice.

The Liberal said he had noted the Tories said Canada would not accept nuclear weapons until war was declared and this was a step in the right direction.

"But a big job has to be done . . ." he began.

"It's been done by Howard Green," yelled a man.

Mr. Groos said Canada must actively organize the non-nuclear powers into an association that would speak loud and clear for peace. And he predicted Great Britain would be the first nuclear nation to give up atomic weapons.

'Both Failed Canada'

Mr. Mitchell charged that both old-line parties had failed Canada.

"You'll fail, too," called someone.

But when one of the Socialist Party members shouted something about "big labor bosses," Mr. Mitchell snapped: "You'll have your chance in Beacon Hill Park on Sunday."

The NDP standard-bearer claimed that 63 per cent of Canada's business firms were in the control of foreigners and that Canada must have a planned economy.

"The sickest thing in our economy is unemployment," he said.

"Canada needs a planned economy . . ."

"Just like Saskatchewan."

". . . It works in smaller countries like Norway and Sweden . . ."

"And Africa," chuckled someone in the back.

"Otherwise we will not be able to stand up against our financial institutions," he said.

The speaker said there would be no one out of work if there was another conflict like the First or Second World War.

"Hurray, you've got a solution," called an interjector.

"We'll require all our energies, all our resources . . ." Mr. Mitchell said.

"And all our doctors," came a voice.

"We stand on our principles . . ." he tried vainly.

"You haven't got one."

Mr. Chatterton, who was the third speaker, began by saying how happy he was to be at Strawberry Vale.

"This better be good," warned someone. "I missed Huckleberry Hound to hear you."

'He Restored Rights'

The Tory said Prime Minister Diefenbaker had restored the rights of parliament to the people of Canada and said this was something that concerned everyone.

With the huge majority it would have been easy for Mr. Diefenbaker to ram through legislation, he said.

"You won't have it next time," said a heckler.

"We'll still be there," answered Mr. Chatterton.

"The problem has come more acute to find skilled men for jobs . . ." he began.

"They all went down to the States two years ago," he was told. "They took off because of you."

Mr. Chatterton said the Liberals were trying to confuse the people over the devaluation of the dollar and that it hadn't affected the dollar's buying power in Canada.

The audience hooted in derision.

"If all you can say is 'boo' you're bankrupt" answered Mr. Chatterton.

The chairman of the meeting appealed to the audience to keep their "questions" until everyone had a chance to speak.

Mr. Pring hadn't even got his "fellow candidates, ladies and gentlemen" out before someone called: "You haven't a chance."

'Louder, Louder, Louder'

"I don't think I need this thing," said Mr. Pring, pushing the microphone aside.

"Louder, louder, louder," chanted the audience. "We can't hear. We can't hear. Louder."

"I've heard so much about debt tonight I'm not going to say much about it," began the speaker.

"You should say a lot about it. You're an authority on it," chortled a Tory.

"We're running this country so far into debt that in another year or so either of the old line parties will be glad to hand it over to either the leftist NDP or Social Credit," said Mr. Pring.

"You a mit there's no difference, eh?" someone called.

"Aw, please give him a chance," appealed the chairman.

Mr. Groos, in rebuttal, said Mr. Pring's views "rather terrify me." The human race had to be protected.

"What with—bows and arrows?" said someone.

Mr. Chatterton said the main thing was to work towards disarmament while Mr. Mitchell said peace was the only real defence in this day and age.

Mr. Pring had the last word.

"My solution is to endeavor to get peace all over the world—God knows we need it—but until we get someplace we cannot lower our guard and say there is no defence . . ."

PREMIER BENNETT
. . . monster rally

The federal election campaign hits the home stretch this coming week with local political events ranging from sheep dog trials to a monster Premier Bennett rally.

External Affairs Minister Green will throw the final punches for Victoria Conservative A. DeB. McPhillips when he speaks at Oak Bay Junior High at 8 p.m. Wednesday.

Premier Bennett, returning from a cross-Canada safari for votes, will speak on behalf of Victoria's James Audain and Esquimalt-Saanich Socred Reginald Pring at a rally in the Royal Theatre at 8.30 p.m. Tuesday.

B.C.'s NDP leader Robert Strachan will be here Thursday when he is scheduled to boost the fight of Victoria's Harry Fanthorpe at Willows School at 8 p.m., while Delta MLA Mrs. Camille Mather will speak at Woodsworth Hall the folowing evening.

Former Victoria Liberal MP Frank Fairey, who lost the seat in 1957, will speak in support of present Liberal candidate Foster Isherwood at Esquimalt Legion Hall at 8.15 p.m. Thursday, while Mr. Isherwood and Esquimalt-Saanich Liberal David Groos wil hold a joint meeting at Quadra School at 8.15 p.m. Wednesday.

There will be an all-candidates' meeting in Esquimalt-Saanich riding at 8 p.m. Friday in the Brentwood Women's Institute Hall.

And the week will start off Sunday with sheep dog trials at NDP candidate Geoff Mitchell's Sea Bluff farm at Metchosin at 2.30 p.m. Sunday.

Other meetings scheduled include:

Esquimalt-Saanich Conservative George Chatterton will be at Royal Oak Women's Institute at 8 p.m. Monday; at Langford Community Hall, 8 p.m. Tuesday, at Hampton Hall, 8 p.m. Thursday; and at the all-candidates' meeting Friday.

In the same riding NDP's Geoff Mitchell will speak at St. Andrew's Hall, Sidney, at 8 p.m. Monday, while Liberal David Groos has meetings planned for Shawnigan Lake Community Hall at 8 p.m. Tuesday and at St. George's Hall, Ten Mile Point, at 8 p.m. Thursday.

Socred Reginald Pring will speak twice—at Sansche Hall, Sidney, at 8 p.m. Monday and at Lake Hill Women's Institute Hall at 8 p.m. Thursday. He will also be on hand for Premier Bennett's rally in the Royal Theatre.

In Victoria Liberal Foster Isherwood will close out his campaign with a meeting at St. Louis College Saturday, while Socred James Audain will appear with B.C. Labor Minister Leslie Peterson in Oak Bay Junior High at 8 p.m. Thursday.

City Lawyer to Probe Voters' Lists Revision

* * *

. . . names added?

OTTAWA (CP) — Chief electoral officer Nelson Castonguay Friday appointed Lloyd McKenzie of Victoria to investigate the revision of voters' lists in Vancouver Centre constituency.

Mr. McKenzie, a lawyer, was directed to report on whether any offence has been committed under the Canada Elections Act in connection with procedures for adding names of voters who were absent when the enumeration took place.

The statement by Mr. Castonguay announcing the appointment gave no details of alleged irregularities, but said the inquiry is to be made into the preparation of forms 17 and 18 under the Elections Act.

'Same Aim Against Medicare'

OTTAWA (CP) — New Democratic Party Leader T. C. Douglas charged Friday night that the Canadian Medical Association and the American Medical Association are fighting the "same campaign" against government-operated health insurance plans.

In an election campaign interview on the Canadian Television network, he said it is no coincidence that they both chose the present time to wage the fight.

The CMA is campaigning against adoption of the compulsory national health program for Canada. The AMA is battling hard against President Kennedy's proposal to extend the U.S. social security program to cover medical bills of the aged.

Tiny Party Wants Coffee Talk

YOUNGSTOWN, Alta. (CP) — John Darby Naismith, 68, a district farmer and a candidate for the All-Canadian party in the June 18 election, said Friday citizens should have coffee breaks during which they would discuss what is good for Canada. Mr. Naismith does not know of any other All-Canadian party candidates in Canada.

H. A. L. Fanthorpe

Canadian troops must be denied the use of nuclear weapons anywhere in the world, even if it someday means withdrawing troops from a NATO force supplied with nuclear weapons, says H. A. L. Fanthorpe.

Mr. Fanthorpe, 48, owner-operator of the Harbor Machine Shop in Victoria, is the New Democratic Party candidate for Victoria.

* * *

"If NATO supplies nuclear arms to Canadian forces operating under a NATO commitment, we would withdraw our troops from that area," said the candidate.

"We've got to encourage the formation of a non-nuclear club and work towards the disarmament of nuclear nations. If we have nuclear weapons, other non-nuclear nations would also want them!"

Mr. Fanthorpe also stands for "free education at all levels to those who can benefit from it, including assistance in post graduate work," and "elimination of unemployment through a planned economy."

He would press for institution of a federally-sponsored portable pension plan, in conjunction with a comprehensive national health plan covering medical, surgical, dental, optical service.

Born in Regina May 18, 1914, he graduated from high school and completed two years at Regina College.

* * *

He came to B.C. in 1933 and was working as a logger when he married the former Margaret Wright in Langley Prairie in 1939.

Mr. Fanthorpe worked as a commercial fisherman from 1945 to 1952, at which time he became a machine shop operator. He lives at 2934 Cedar Hill Road with his wife and three children, Maureen, 16, Diane 14, and James 6.

David Groos

Liberal party standard-bearer in Esquimalt-Saanich, David Groos retired only two years ago from the Royal Canadian Navy with the rank of captain.

This is his second bid for public office. He was narrowly defeated last year in the Esquimalt-Saanich byelection which sent Conservative George Chatterton to Ottawa.

* * *

A native Victorian, Mr. Groose was educated at St. Michael's, Oak Bay High School and the old Normal School.

He enlisted in the Royal Navy 25 years ago while still in his teens and rapidly rose to a position of command.

* * *

During the war, he commanded the destroyer HMCS Restigouche and later became captain of the cruiser HMCS Ontario.

During the battle of the North Atlantic, he was awarded the Distinguished Service Cross and was twice mentioned in dispatches.

He married Phyllis Pooley of Victoria 14 years ago.

Mr. and Mrs. Groos have four children, Laura, 13, Madeleine, 11, Brian, 9, and Hilary, 7. All are attending school in Victoria.

From the outset of the campaign, the retired naval officer has been sharply critical of Progressive Conservative defence policies.

His stand on nuclear arms for Canadian forces has been clear from the beginning. He pledges to fight any attempt to equip the nation's defence units with nuclear arms and says he'll resign if they are so equipped.

Pearson Remains Silent In Gagging of Fleming

HALIFAX (CP) — Liberal Leader Pearson said Friday he has nothing to say about the incident in St. John's Nfld., Thursday where Finance Minister Fleming was scheduled to address a Rotary luncheon, but remained silent after an intervention by Premier Smallwood.

Mr. Pearson was asked on his arrival at Halifax International Airport from Windsor, Ont., whether he had any comment. He said he had nothing to say —"not even no comment."

Mr. Fleming was to have given a non-political address on the devaluated dollar at the luncheon. Premier Smallwood ordered the address to be cancelled "or else" the Newfoundland government would withdraw sponsorship of a regional Rotary Club convention dinner in St. John's next week and have nothing to do with the club in future.

John D Talk Postpones Grit Dance

HAMILTON (CP)—A Liberal dance that was to be held in Hamilton June 15 has been postponed because Prime Minister Diefenbaker will be speaking at an election rally across the street on the same evening.

"We were told to cancel our affair — arranged before Mr. Diefenbaker's meeting was announced — by headquarters in Toronto," said George Mills, campaign manager for John Morison, Liberal candidate in Wentworth riding.

Panic Ended Wall Street Believes

NEW YORK (AP) — Wall Street showed no surprise Friday at President Kennedy's tax cut pledge and the market had another slow day, with prices mixed.

Tobaccos, reacting further on news the government plans a study of health factors related to smoking, faced selling pressure and took some losses.

The tobaccos were about the only major group that showed a clear-cut trend either way.

"It's good to settle down and relax a bit," one broker said. "This means that the market is stabilizing—some of the panicky feeling is over with."

Banks Fall Again

TORONTO (CP) — The stock market moved into lower ground during extremely light trading.

In the main list, Banks were once again the weakest group with Montreal, Nova Scotia, Toronto - Dominion, Royal and Canadian Imperial Bank of Commerce all slipping fractionally.

Algoma Steel declined 1¼ to 43¾, Price Brothers fell ¾ and Aluminium ⅝. Alberta Gas, Imperial Oil and Canadian Oil all dropped in a ⅛ to ½ range.

International Nickel paced base metals, rising ⅜. Hudson Bay Mining slipped ½ and Noranda ¼.

Among western oils, Calgary and Edmonton rose ½, while Hudson's Bay dipped ¾, Pacific Petroleum ⅛ and Home A and B ¼ each.

Drop in Aluminium

MONTREAL (CP) — Stocks dropped lower in quiet and featureless trading.

Banks were lower. Royal Bank fell ¾ to 69⅝ in active trading.

Aluminium fell ⅝ to 22¼, Imperial Oil dropped ¾ to 44, and Hudson's Bay Company fell ½ to 11.

Macmillan at 18½ and Price at 46¾ each lost ½ among papers.

Among utilities, Calgary Power rose ½ to 21.

Off ⅛ were Canadian Breweries at 9⅞, Massey-Ferguson at 10⅞ and Trans - Mountain Pipe Lines at 14¼.

Brazil Offers 10 Per Cent Cash Deal

WASHINGTON (CP) — The Canadian and other foreign owners of public utilities which may be expropriated in Brazil will be paid 10-per-cent cash and the rest in long-term instalments.

A new Brazilian law also stipulates that at least 75 per cent of the total proceeds must be reinvested in new Brazilian industry. The Brazilian embassy

Hotel Planned

BRANTFORD, Ont. (CP)—J. B. Raymond, managing director of I. B. Margolese and Company Limited of Winnipeg, Friday announced plans for a $1,000,000 hotel in downtown Brantford. Mr. Raymond said a start will be made this year on the four-storey structure.

NDP President:

Unpeg the Dollar!

By HARRY YOUNG
Colonist Business Editor

The latest political voice to air its views on the dollar is that of Dr. Michael Oliver, president of the New Democratic Party. He wants the dollar to be "unpegged" right away.

I am ignorant of Dr. Oliver's qualifications as an economist, but a letter he has written to Finance Minister Fleming suggests he thinks the "pegging" is merely a machination of the capitalist system to plunge the country into unemployment and tight money.

"It puts the straitjacket on the Canadian economy," he says and adds the economic activity will now be directed towards preserving Canada's stock of U.S. dollars.

What Dr. Oliver probably does not realize, or does not want to realize, is that the government allowed the dollar to be pegged simply to prevent the gambling by foreign "capitalists" on the dollar, and to avert the sort of chaos which Dr. Oliver's party professes it wants to avoid.

Dr. Oliver c plains there was no pegging of the dollar when it was strong, and thus there should be no pegging when it is weak.

We might have agreed with the NDP man if he reversed his arguments and said the pegged dollar should have been there all the time.

It would have saved a lot of headaches—one way and the other.

PAST THE WORST

Some time ago it was believed the motion picture industry had reached the worst of the competition from television, and the figures of Famous Player Canadian Corporation indicate this might be the case.

In the first quarter of 1962, Famous Players made a net profit of $611,711 (35 cents a share) compared to $545,742 (31 cents) in the corresponding period of 1961, when the profits were bolstered by a sale of assets equal to $149,592 (9 cents a share).

Indians Quit Salvage Race

PORT ANGELES (AP) — A spokesman for an insurance company says the Makah Indians have agreed to let a salvage crew remove a luxury yacht from the beach about 14 miles south of Cape Flattery.

The 42-foot yacht Phoebe, bound from Portland to Seattle with Mr. and Mrs. Russell Woodruff and their son, Russell Jr., of Portland aboard, ran out of fuel in a storm June 1.

The coast guard removed the Russells, and the Makahs claim they towed the $70,000 craft to shore to save it. But the Makahs changed their minds.

100 May Get Increases

About 100 former city hall employees stand to gain pension increases of up to $25 a month.

Persons affected are those who resigned before a new scale of pensions was introduced in 1957. Some of them are receiving pensions as low as $35 a month.

City finance committee yesterday recommended that city council take advantage of a new offer by the provincial government to increase the pensions on a 50-50 basis.

50 Fires So Far

Freedomite Women Burn Own Homes

TRAIL, B.C. (CP) — Sons of Freedom Doukhobor women burned more than 50 of their own plywood and tarpaper homes in the West Kootenay area Friday in perhaps the biggest mass demonstration yet in the troubled area.

Some stripped as the buildings crackled. Others, after lighting the fires, went to work in the garden. Others went to the homes of neighbors where they had already moved their belongings.

'GOD TOLD US'

"God told us to do it," one woman said.

Some of the women threw rocks and water at police and reporters when they arrived on the scene at Krestova.

The demonstration by fire came at 6:10 a.m. in the Freedomite villages of Krestova, Shoreacres and Gilpin. Those who know the Sons felt the arson was in protest against Monday's preliminary hearing in Vancouver where 71 of the radical sect's fraternal council face charges of intimidating the governments of Canada and British Columbia.

'TOP' HOMES

Among the homes burned Friday were those of Peter Elasoff Jr., secretary of the fraternal council, former secretary William Moojelsky and top fraternal council member William Makortoff.

St. Mary Bass Ties for Lead

Salt Spring Islander David Ryan has landed a five-pound bass at St. Mary Lake on Salt Spring Island to tie for top place in The Daily Colonist King Fisherman contest bass division.

Nanaimoite Stan Brown had held the lead with two five-pounders from Spider Lake in the Qualicum district.

Both are Colonist subscribers and qualify for the $100 Imperial Esso prize, as well as King Fisherman trophies.

Mr. Brown will win the May centennial fish of the month bar but Mr. Ryan's bass will have to stand up for the entire month of June to win him that coveted award.

Montreal 'So Charming'

* * * * * *

Crowds Cheer Queen Mother

MONTREAL (CP) — The Queen Mother, pursued by the admiring cheers of thousands of Montrealers, was welcomed officially to the city Friday and said she found it charming.

She found enthusiastic crowds too, that twice broke through police lines and surged into the streets to get a closer look at the smiling royal visitor who is on a nine-day visit to Canada.

DELAYED MOTORCADE

At one point the crowd delayed the royal motorcade while the Queen Mother was travelling from city hall to the armory of her regiment, the Black Watch (Royal Highland Regiment) of Canada.

Thousands of persons had lined the royal route. As the open convertible in which the Queen Mother was travelling turned from St. James Street to Bleury Street in the heart of Montreal's business district, hundreds broke ranks to crowd around her car.

SMILES AND WAVES

The Queen Mother smiled and waved to the cheering, applauding throng while the police escort fought to get the route open, and ticker tape floated down from the tall buildings.

Another crowd of 3,000, waiting opposite the armory, also ran over police barricades while the Queen Mother stood waving, but were brought under control after they had moved forward only about 25 feet.

Later the Queen Mother was given a diamond and gold brooch as a memento of her visit, at a luncheon held by the Province of Quebec.

Speaking in French, she told Premier Jean Lesage that she will always remember the warmth of her reception.

The day started with a hurried visit to city hall, where she was welcomed officially by Mayor and Mrs. Jean Drapeau and 1,600 applauding spectators.

There the 62-year-old Queen Mother received gifts for her four grandchildren.

As she entered her car for the drive to the armory, she was heard to remark to Mayor Drapeau: "C'etait si charmant, si charmant — it was so charming, so charming!"

Garden Notes

Dig Shallow, Man!

By M. V. CHESNUT, FRHS

Controlling the weeds in the flower beds and the vegetable plot seems to be the principal job at the moment, and a never-ending job it is. No sooner have you turned your back on a freshly-hoed piece of ground than a whole new crop of weeds springs up, apparently fully grown and all ready to start scattering their seeds.

As a lazy gardener, I have been experimenting for years to find tricks and stunts and methods for controlling the weeds without too much back-breaking labor. Ruth Stout's technique of suppressing weeds with a thick mulch has a lot of merit, but I can never lay my hands on enough mulching material to go round, so there is nothing for it but get out the hoe. One thing I have noticed, though—the more shallowly you hoe, the quicker the weeds die.

* * *

Deep hoeing, as a rule, does little more than transplant a weed from one place to another and, if a shower or a heavy dew comes along, they have no trouble getting their roots firmly established again.

For hoeing between the rows and between the plants within the rows when spacing permits, I don't think there is any implement that does such a good job with little effort as the Dutch hoe. These come in several sizes; my own preference is for a rather small, light model, easier to control accurately when scuffling off weeds which are growing close to the cultivated plants.

I keep my little Dutch hoe razor-sharp by dressing the forward-pointings blade with a flat file. Scuffling with this keen blade just a fraction of an inch below the soil surface slices off the weeds without creating too much disturbance to the shallow-rooted subjects in the garden.

* * *

One thing that appeals to me strongly about the Dutch hoe is the fact that you work backward down the row, so you never need step on freshly-hoed ground. With the draw hoe, the work is a strenuous chopping motion—you work forward, trampling all over your work. This involves going back to rake out the footmarks.

It is possible to make our droughty midsummer weather work in our favor in the control of weeds. I grow most of my row crops in shallow trenches or furrows in the ground and, when watering with the hose, it is easy to channel the water into these shallow ditches in which my cultivated plants are growing, leaving the ground between the rows as dry as a bone. Weeds seldom get the chance to germinate in these hard-baked alleys.

* * *

There is another advantage to applying the water directly to the roots of our cultivated plants rather than sprinkling the whole garden area. Most of us who have to work downtown for a living must of necessity do our watering in the evening, and our evenings are definitely on the cool side even in midsummer. We have the chilliest summer evenings of any section in Canada and, while plants like stocks and carnations and sweet peas revel in these cool conditions, the heat-lovers don't do so well. Tomatoes are reluctant to ripen, growth is slow in corn, zinnias come down with frightful cases of mildew.

Squirting water all over the whole garden lowers the temperature even more and I am convinced many of the obscure plant troubles that show up in our gardens are due to this chilling. It is much better, I think, to channel the water directly to the roots, leaving the foliage dry. It is very good for plants, especially conifers, to freshen up the foliage with a spray of clear water, but not in the cool of the evening.

John Crosby — Critic at Large

Mushroom Makes Million

Paul Anka is roughly the size of a mushroom; he's just 20 years old and he earns over $1,000,000 a year and he'll tell you with a straight face:

"I live with my family in Tenafly, New Jersey, but even if there isn't a little girl friend there for me to help with her homework, I've got a normal life for this business. I wanted things that way. I didn't want to wait until I was 30 to get started. Everybody is 30!"

Talking to Anka is a fairly unsettling experience unless you're 20 and earn over a million dollars a year, too. His tiny body houses an enormous but amusing ego. It hurts him and astounds him to discover that half the women of the world are still in love with Cary Grant.

* * *

"This is the time for youth," he'll tell you earnestly, and it's probably true. "Never before has show business belonged so much to the young. It works in cycles. A few years ago there were only three record companies. And about five male singers who were big. Now there are over 1,000 record companies and about 500 singers. They've been pulling kids out of grocery stores and making them singers."

This might go down as one of the great revealing cracks about life in the 60s. In the 30s they discovered Lana Turner in a drugstore. In the 60s, they dredge the singers out of the corner grocery store. The place of discovery is different and so is the kind of person discovered and so are his dreams of glory.

* * *

"I wasn't happy going to school and having cokes in the corner drugstore. I've got a lot of dreams and a lot of goals. I'm not a sexpot. I'm not the greatest singer in the world but then neither is Sinatra. What makes any of us is the package—the personality, the charm, the appeal. The voice only comes with it. I don't want to be another Sinatra. I want to be Paul Anka. I know I'll never be a great singer, but if anything is going to make me great, it's being what I am."

Anka has been very hot stuff for four or five years. He's a Canadian and still talks a little like one. Besides singing he also writes songs for younger kids and takes his song writing just as seriously as his singing. He's written the theme music for The Longest Day, the picture about D-Day which Darryl Zanuck has made in Europe.

* * *

"Zanuck didn't want any music in the picture, but I wrote a song, recorded it, and sent it to Paris, and he bought it. In fact he sent me a cable that said simply: 'You've got it'."

Anka is the first young rock 'n' roll singer to make it big in nightclubs. He was the first of his kind to be booked into the Copacabana, the high temple of the nightclub art, and he got the call when he was 18. He's back now for the third time.

Anka has knocked them dead on personal appearance tours from Spain to Japan. He's one of the whole new breed of international stars who's as at home in Rio as on 45th Street, singing the international language of rock 'n' roll, which is no more senseless in Portuguese than in English.

"This business needs youth and there aren't any 47-year-old idols going to be left in a few years. There are no more idols being made today. We've got enough. From now, it's the survival of the fittest."

Hollywood Today — By Sheilah Graham

Kirk Hooks Into Cuckoo

HOLLYWOOD (NANA)—Kirk Douglas returns to Broadway next season in One Flew Over the Cuckoo's Nest. "The last time I did a play in New York," Kirk told me, "was 14 years ago—I was in the Sam and Bella Spewak play, Woman Bites Dog. It folded after two days." Kirk is currently starring in The Hook for the Perlberg-Seaton company. It's an all-male movie, with Nick Adams, Robert Walker—son of the late actor, who has dropped the "junior" from his name—and Pancho Magalona . . . Young Walker, who made Jennifer Jones grandmother a few weeks ago, went to 17 schools before he decided he wanted to be an actor. "And he'll be a very good one," said producer Seaton.

* * *

Young Brandon De Wilde had to lose 20 pounds for his co-starring role with Paul Newman, Melvyn Douglas and Pat Neal in Hud Bannon. Producer Marty Ritt told Brandon he looked too well-fed for the role of a hard-working ranch hand, and the boy hit the diet route in a hurry. He has lost another five pounds on the hot location in Texas.

* * *

Ross Hunter is after Katherine Hepburn to join Joanne Woodward and Hayley Mills in The Chalk Garden. Everyone who has seen Katie in Long Day's Journey Into Night says she will surely be nominated for an Oscar next April.

* * *

Lucille Ball's sisters in Critic's Choice—Blonde Joan Shawlee and brunette Marie Windsor—are wearing red wigs to look more like Lucille. When Jack Lemmon visited the set he quipped, "so that's what happened to the wigs Tony (Curtis) and I wore in Some Like it Hot!"

* * *

Sir Laurence Olivier has such antipathy to reporters and photographers that recently he actually paid £1,500 to buy up some negatives of "stills" he did not care for. The press is taboo on any set where Olivier works. What kind of insecurity causes this kind of behavior?

* * *

Peter Shaw, assistant to the boss at MGM, was lunching with Marty Melcher who not only is married to Doris Day but handles all her business. But I was more interested in Peter, now a big-shot executive. When I first knew him, he was trying to get a contract as an actor at the same studio—and didn't because, he was told, "You look too much like Errol Flynn."

* * *

Marlon Brando, one of our more careful spenders, dug up $150,000 to buy his new home. And this secretive male has actually been dating his wife Movita. They were spotted at the Wilshire Terrace restaurant last week. Who knows, Marlon may become quite conventional, in time.

* * *

Oscar winner George Chakiras is in London to discuss Briar Patch, from Young Lucifer by Charity Blackstone. George will be leaving soon for Japan to star in Flight from Ashyia.

Fellowship of Zoology Won by Local Student

A Victoria-educated man, David A. Boag, 28, son of Mrs. T. A. Boag, 4528 Stratford, and the late Thomas Boag, has been awarded a $2,900 fellowship for study toward a doctorate in zoology.

He has recently been attending courses at Washington State University.

Previously he attended Tillicum Elementary School, Mount View High School, Victoria University, and the University of Alberta.

The award was one of three assistantships given by the university for academic proficiency.

Back Ailment Forces Mrs. Todd to Quit

The city ladies golf championship had a heart-breaking finish yesterday at Uplands Golf Club.

Defending-champion Margaret Todd, leading in her battle with challenger Shirley Naysmith, was forced to concede the match after 11 holes when a back injury made it impossible for her to go any further.

Mrs. Todd, going for her 11th city championship, was two up after the first nine. She didn't concede until the completion of the 11th, but it was apparent after eight holes that she could never finish.

On that eighth hole, which she started three up, Mrs. Todd sliced her tee shot badly. She hit a good second ball, but the effort of making the shot put the finishing touches to a back ailment that had been bothering her throughout.

For the next three holes she could not bend over to tee up her ball or to line up puts. Finally, after the 11th, she gave up and conceded although she was still one up.

EVEN MONEY

It was a tough way to lose, and a tough way to win for Mrs. Naysmith, whose fine play through the week had made her an even-money choice for the final.

Off to a slow start, Mrs. Naysmith lost four of the first five holes, but had her game back at the turn and had cut the margin to one hole by the 11th.

Flight winners:

Consolation Flight — Mrs. G. Harris defeated Mrs. C. Humber 1 up.
Second Flight — Mrs. F. Green defeated Mrs. G. Lovitt 1 up.
Third Flight — Mrs. C. Vale defeated Mrs. M. Wynn 2 up.
Fourth Flight — Mrs. F. Bliss defeated Mrs. F. Skillings 5 and 4.
Fifth Flight — Mrs. E. Brunt defeated Mrs. K. Widdoman 1 up.
Sixth Flight — Mrs. C. Lorentzen defeated Mrs. J. Chase 4 and 3.
Seventh Flight — Mrs. J. Riddell defeated Mrs. H. Merryweather 1 up.

Hallelujah

Beatific smile creases the countenance of Casey Stengel as he looks up in thankful relief. Reason: his New York Mets snapped 17-game losing streak in the National League yesterday, beating Chicago Cubs, 4-3. Mets lost second game of doubleheader, 3-2.—(AP Photofax.)

Dis-Mantled Yankees Refuse to Collapse Pitchers the Glue

New York Yankees have moved from third to first place in the American League since May 19, the day that Mickey Mantle collapsed while running to first base.

Mantle's absence is shown in the averages, which show the Yankees no better than ninth in club batting average with a modest .247. But the averages also show the Yankees leading in club fielding and pitching.

Their pitching, without Luis Arroyo, their amazing relief specialist of last season, and with Whitey Ford, a 25-game winner last year, of almost no value, has been a standout surprise.

Yesterday, Ford who started and lasted only one inning, and Jim Coates collaborated in a third successive shutout, making the one run the Yankees managed good for a fourth straight victory.

SCORELESS STRING

It was a two-hitter yesterday, and it followed the two-hitter turned in by Bill Stafford on Thursday and the four-hitter by Bill Terry on Wednesday. The Yankees haven't been scored on in the last 28 innings and their three starting pitchers in the last three games have given up only eight hits.

The Yankees are 12-7 since Mantle's injury, a pace beaten only by Detroit Tigers, who are 15-7 for the same period. Minnesota's second-place Twins are 12-10 and Cleveland Indians, who led when Mantle was hurt, are 9-10 since.

Yesterday, an eighth-inning single by Bobby Richardson produced the only run as Coates got his fifth win in seven decisions after the sore-shouldered Ford had to retire. Rookie Tom Tresh and Coates started the short rally with successive singles.

The Twins stayed only a game behind by squeezing by Chicago White Sox, 2-1. An eighth-inning single by Don Mincher broke up a pitching battle between Jack Kralick and Chicago's John Buzhardt.

A half game was lost by the Tigers, who had trouble with the pesky but unlucky Washington Senators. The Tigers got an 11th inning run to win the first game, 7-6, then bowed, 1-0, to the six-hit pitching of Dave Stenhouse.

Cleveland remained two games out of the lead by busting through for six runs in the 13th inning to whip Boston Red Sox, 15-9.

In the National League, the suddenly reawakened St. Louis Cardinals won their fourth straight by whipping San Francisco Giants, 8-4.

Los Angeles Dodgers took advantage of the situation to get back into first place, beating Houston Colts, 4-3, in 13 innings on a sacrifice fly by Willie Davis.

Maury Wills scored the run, and set it up himself by stealing second and third after drawing a walk. Wills has stolen 32 bases this season.

And Casey Stengel's New York Mets finally broke a losing streak at 17 games by defeating Chicago Cubs, 4-3. Then the Mets promptly started another by losing the second game, 2-3.

Dave Fyvie Wins In Rifle Shootoff

VANCOUVER (Special) — Lieut. Dave Fyvie of Victoria won a four-way shootoff here yesterday to win the Duff Stewart match of the B.C. Rifle Association, and Victoria qualified one more shooter for today's Lieutenant-Governor's provincial championship match.

Fyvie, shooting for the RCEME, was one of four to shoot 73x75 at 200 yards. He and Sgt. Mary Robinson of Victoria, shooting for the Canadian Intelligence Corps, won the first shoot-off, then went six shots before Fyvie won out.

Fran Morse of the Canadian Scottish Rifle Association later won a six-way shoot-off in the first stage of the Lieutenant-Governor's match, thus becoming the 18th Island shot to enter today's field of 60 for the provincial final.

Mrs. Robinson placed third in the all-comers aggregate completed yesterday, two points behind Sgt. Gunnar Westling of Seaforths and eight behind winner Earl Jamieson of Westminster Regiment.

Placings and scores of all prize-winning Island entries follow:

Sam Finds 'Eternal Spring'

Sam Snead, who has been winning tournaments for a quarter of a century, found a formula of youth in his putter yesterday to grab the lead after 36 holes of the $100,000 Classic Open golf tournament at Clifton, N.J.

He had a two-stroke lead over the field and was 11 strokes ahead of the distressed Arnold Palmer.

Snead, who has just turned 50, shot a six-under-par 66 Friday for a 36-hole total of 136. The veteran used only 24 putts in his great round.

Palmer, having trouble in his second successive tournament, had a 74 to go with his opening 73.

"I'd like to withdraw and go to Oakmont tonight," the gloomy Palmer said. "But they'd hang me from the nearest tree if I did."

Oakmont is the scene of next week's U.S. Open, a tournament Palmer badly wants as the second leg in his goal of a grand-slam this year.

Gene Littler, Dave Marr and Earl Stewart were tied for second place with 138. Littler and Stewart both had 71s yesterday while Marr got a second 69.

Toronto's Al Balding didn't make the cut-off, going one over the necessary figure with a 73 which gave him 150 for the 36 holes.

However, Stan Leonard, George Knudson and Al Johnston all made it, with totals of 144, 143 and 149, respectively.

Norman Just Misses His Second Shutout

VANCOUVER — Goalie Les Norman, who posted the first shutout in the history of the Inter-City Lacrosse League earlier this season, came within one shot of doing it again here last night as New Westminster regained a share of first place.

That shot was fired by Don Boyd late in the third quarter, and it was the only one Norman let go by as New Westminster beat Burnaby Norburns, 8-1. New Westminster thus got back into a first place tie with Vancouver, and Norburns took their eighth straight loss.

Norman made 40 saves and Skip Jolly looked almost as impressive in stopping 36 shots.

Charlie Saunders scored twice for New Westminster and Paul Parnell, Ken Oddy, Mike Gates, Ivan Stewart, Jack Barclay and Cliff Sepka got the others.

Tonight the action shifts to Nanaimo, where Victoria Shamrocks try to strengthen their hold on third place against an improved Nanaimo club. Nanaimo won their last meeting, and has since won three of its last four games.

Two-Mile Mark For Little Jim

LOS ANGELES (AP) — Little Jim Beatty bettered the world two-mile record Friday night with the sensational time of 8:29.8.

The record is 8:32.0, set by Alfred Thomas of Australia, Aug. 7, 1958, in Dublin, Ireland.

Last-Minute Entrant In Belmont Stakes

NEW YORK (AP)—Four outstanding colts, including the winners of the Kentucky Derby and Preakness, plus four others with lesser qualifications will battle today in the 94th Belmont Stakes.

Usually one, and sometimes two colts dominate the famous 1½-mile event at spacious Belmont Park. But this race, on paper, probably tops them all with its wide open implications.

Seven three - year - olds had been expected to go to the post.

In addition to Decidedly, the Derby champ; Greek Money, the Preakness winner; Jaipur and Crimson Satan of the Big Four, the entries are Fred W. Hooper's Admiral's Voyage, Frank E. Power's Vimy Ridge and Louis Wolfson's David K.

But racing is full of surprises, and just before they closed the entry box the telephone rang and trainer Tom Waller told a clerk:

"I want to enter a horse."

"Who, Prego?" inquired the astonished clerk. Prego ran 15th and last in the Derby, and 11th and last in the Preakness.

"No, I want to enter Folk Dancer, a chestnut gelding by Native Dancer - Almahmoud," replied Waller. "Bobby Ussery is the rider," he added.

That sent everybody scurrying for the record books.

Folk Dancer is owned by a New York broker and banker, Maurice Newton, and was obtained at the Saratoga yearling sales for $25,000. Aside from that, his major claim to fame is the fact that his sire won the 1953 Belmont. He has won two races in 10 starts.

Today's running of the Belmont Stakes will be televised live over channels 2, 6, 7, 11 and 12 starting at 1.30 p.m.

Valet Gets Divorce

'Human Orchid' Beat His Wife

LOS ANGELES (AP) — Wrestler Gorgeous George took on his wife as an opponent after he'd had a few drinks, she testified in getting a divorce Friday.

A witness at her Superior Court trial said she wound up with two black eyes as the result of her last non-professional bout.

Judge Leonard Diether granted Mrs. George resumption of her maiden name, Cherie Dupre, which she uses as a dancer and actress.

Miss Dupre, 33, was valet to the golden-curled wrestler before he gave up the ring in 1957. She preceded him through the ropes, sprayed the ring with perfume, spread out a mink rug in his corner, removed the gold pins that clasped his curls and removed his robe—one of the 200 in his wardrobe.

George, 47, now is a tavern owner and is having a struggle getting started in his new business, his wife testified. She waived alimony. They'll have joint custody of their two-year-old son.

They were married in 1958.

Mrs. George said she was also waiving any financial rights to the book her husband is writing, Gorgeous George — The Human Orchid.

"I don't want to be rough on him," she told the judge, "even though it's been kind of rough on me."

THE PALMER METHOD

LADIES, RESTRICT THAT HEEL LIFT

Women golfers who attempt to gain extra distance by lifting the left heel too far off the ground on the backswing are making a major mistake. This leads to inconsistency and general looseness of the left side. Women also tend to stiffen the right leg which locks the knee and immobilizes the swing.

Your legs must remain mobile throughout the swing. This naturally includes the right knee, which should remain slightly flexed, as illustrated, as the top of the swing is reached. The left heel should lift only slightly from the ground, an action which gives a compact, controlled swing.

New Attendance Record Set in NHL

By W. R. WHEATLEY

MONTREAL (CP) — The National Hockey League set an attendance record of 2,436,000 during the 1961-62 regular season, President Clarence Campbell said Friday.

The total was about five per cent—or around 116,000—higher than the 1960-61 season and topped the previous all - time record of 2,397,000 by about 39,000. The former record was made 15 years ago, in the 1946-47 season.

Campbell said New York Rangers showed the greatest attendance increase, about 87,000 more than in 1960-61. The increase in Chicago was 60,000.

Montreal and Toronto have long had virtual sellouts for each game — variations usually depending upon the number of standees — but the Toronto figure last season showed a slight increase of about 1,500. Montreal remained practically unchanged.

Attendance was lower by about four per cent in Boston and Detroit, said Campbell, with each club down by about 14,000.

Over-all attendance for the Stanley Cup playoffs also reached a high of 277,000 for the 18 games. There was not an unsold ticket throughout the playoffs.

Campbell said comparisons with previous playoffs would not be a fair indication as to records, since the playoffs this spring were played in the league's largest rinks.

The number of games would also have a bearing in trying to compute comparative records. The average, for semi-finals and final, is 16; the maximum is 21.

Earlier in the day the league announced that players named to the all-star teams and for individual trophy awards will receive prize money for each half of the season as well as on the over-all basis.

Total prize money has been doubled and now will be $31,000.

Voting for individual honors is held at the midway mark of the season and again at the end, but heretofore only the over-all top - vote recipients have received cash awards.

KEEP PRESENT AMOUNTS

Each player named to the all-star first team at the midway mark will get $500; each named to the second team, $250. The same applies to the second half of the season. The present amounts for the over - all winners, $1,000 and $500, still remain.

Thus it is possible, for instance, for a player to be named to the first team in each half and, with his over - all selection, receive $2,000 instead of $1,000 as heretofore.

The same applies to leaders for the various trophies — the Vezina, Ross, Lady Byng, Calder, Hart and Norris Trophies, all for various achievements of proficiency.

There will be $500 for the leaders in each half of the season, plus the usual $1,000 for the over-all winner. There are no runnerup awards among these trophies except for the Ross Trophy for point-scoring leadership. The runnerup in each half-season will receive $250; the over-all runnerup the usual $500.

Pakistani XI Snatches Win From Surrey

LONDON (Reuters) — The Pakistani cricket tourists snatched a thrilling victory against Surrey—their first this tour against a county—by 92 runs at The Oval here Friday with only three minutes to spare.

Surrey lost its last seven wickets for 25 runs in less than an hour and the Pakistani fielders leaped in the air with glee when skipper Javed Burki caught wicket - keeper Arnold Long to end the match.

Earlier the Pakistinis' second innings had been dominated by Faeed's first century of the summer. He made 108 not out in three hours, with a six and 14 fours among his strokes.

Results of other cricket matche:s

At Oxford: Hampshire beat Oxford University by 140 runs. Hampshire 418 for 9 declared and 99 for 2 declared; Oxford University 130 and 231.

Leafs Give Five To Get Douglas

TORONTO (CP) — Toronto Maple Leafs, Stanley Cup champions in the National Hockey League, Friday signed Kent Douglas, 26 - year - old defenceman, in a five - for - one trade with Springfield Indians of the American League.

The Leafs sent four defencemen — Roger Cote, 23; Bill White, 22; Jim Wilcox, 21; and Dick Mattiusi, 24 — and centre Wally Boyer, 24, to the Indians for Douglas.

Cote, White and Boyer played for Rochester last season, Wilcox for San Francisco of the Western League, and Mattiussi for Pittsburgh of the AHL.

Punch Imlach, Leafs' general manager, said, "We're tickled pink to get Douglas. Every club in the NHL was after him and Eddie Shore had a $50,000 price tag on him."

Douglas scored 18 goals and had 41 assists last season.

Douglas at one time belonged to the Toronto organization, playing for the Weston Dukes, a junior "B" club, in the 1953-54 season. He turned pro with Winnipeg in 1957, played for Vancouver Canucks in 1958-59 and then joined Springfield.

Meanwhile, ex-Leaf Bert Olmstead, drafted by New York Rangers, said in Calgary that he was not yet certain he would report to his new club.

"I talked to a Ranger representative Wednesday," Olmstead said, "and there was some mention of an opportunity to coach. But I didn't hear a firm offer and I didn't make a firm commitment."

In Detroit, the Red Wings announced that they have added Pittsburgh of the American Hockey League to their farm system and that they will assume practically the complete stocking of the club.

Ladies' Day At Speedway

The women take the wheel tonight at Western Speedway, when the weekly racing card is featured by a Powder Puff derby.

About eight entries are expected for the women's race, which will run in addition to the usual stock and modified sportsmen races.

Stock division is highlighted by rookie driver Nibbs Anderson's attempt to win his fourth straight main event at the Millstream Road oval. Time trials start at 7.30.

Judges Have Trouble In Deciding Winner

By ALAN HARVEY

EPSOM (CP) — Monade from France nipped favored West Side Story of England in a dazzling, ding-dong finish to the 184th Oaks that had photo-finish cameras working overtime.

Two - hundred - thousand sweltering fans, including the Queen, held their breath in agonized suspense as Judge John Hancock called for three photographic prints before giving the short-head verdict to Monade, a 7-to-1 shot.

Ireland's Tender Annie was third in the field of 18 fillies contesting the 1½-mile distaff-side classic.

Racing commentators said they had never known anything to match the half-hour delay in deciding the destination of the £18,435 winner's prize.

It was a breath - stopping postscript to a tingling contest. Almost as sensational as the Oaks finish was the statement issued by the stewards Friday, in effect blasting owners and trainers for running so many mediocre horses in Wednesday's Derby.

The statement followed the seven-horse pileup which resulted in one horse's death and sent several jockeys to hospital. Riders attributed the spill to slow horses falling back tired at halfway and obstructing those behind.

Offer Canadian Team Eastern Soccer Tour

VANCOUVER (CP) — Canada has been invited to send a soccer team to the Far East in February or March.

Willie Trem made the offer to Canadian Soccer Football Association secretary George Anderson here Tuesday. Trem, a soccer booking agent, arranged for Eintracht Frankfurt's recent tour of the Far East.

"It sounds very interesting," said B.C. Commission secretary Frank Bain Thursday. "Anderson has taken the matter under advisement and will contact CSFA council members."

The tour would have a direct bearing on local players since B.C. would be expected to provide the nucleus of the Canadian side.

The tour calls for three games in Hong Kong and one each in Tokyo, Manila and Bankok, Siam. The team would be away for three weeks.

JAMES SKINNER MERVYN LOUGHER-GOODEY BRUCE GREAVES PETER CHILD ANTHONY ARCHBOLD

City Cadets Graduate from Military College

Five Victoria cadets were among graduates from Le College Militaire Royal de Saint-Jean, Que., at ceremonies June 2. Coming from seaport town, majority of the five graduates have chosen to serve in navy. Exceptions are Bruce Greaves, son of Mr. and Mrs. L. H. Brydon, 582 Atkins Road, who will train as telecommunications officer in technical list of Royal Canadian Air Force and Mervyn Lougher-Goodey, son of Mr. and Mrs. W. D. Lougher-Goodey, 325 Linden Avenue, who will train for Royal Canadian Engineers. Training for Royal Canadian Navy will be Anthony Archbold, son of Mrs. Sheila Bowden, 686 Linkleas Avenue; Peter John Child, son of Mr. and Mrs. Frederick John Child, 1026 Monterey and James Skinner, son of Mr. and Mrs. Francis Myrtle Skinner, 2535 Garden. All five cadets will report to Royal Military College of Canada in Kingston, Ont., after summer training period for third year of four-year course.

Sect Jail Begun

AGASSIZ (CP) — The first of 13 prefabricated buildings which will form a maximum-security prison for members of the radical Sons of Freedom Doukhobor sect have been bolted together.

The shells of another 12 buildings are expected to be up within two weeks. Interior finishing will take another two weeks.

Present plans for the $300,000 institution here call for accommodation for 200 males and 120 females.

All the buildings are fireproof, made of metal, lined with metal and built on cement slabs.

Many members of the stormy sect have been jailed recently for acts of continuing terrorism in the Kootenays. More members of the sect are facing trial.

Warden Tom Hall of the B.C. penitentiary said the first of the Freedomites likely will be shifted into their new quarters at the end of June.

When the Freedomites are moved in to the Agassiz prison, they will be issued with fire-proof clothing, will have to sit on metal chairs, eat off metal tables and sleep on metal cots on fire-proof mattresses.

'I Would've Given Him More Than Nosebleed'

William Stefanson, no fixed address, was sentenced to four months' imprisonment yesterday when he pleaded guilty in city court to stealing a pair of shoes from a Douglas Street store.

Police said Stefanson hid the shoes under his coat, tried to throw them away, and struck the investigating constable on the nose, giving him a nose bleed.

Stefanson said he had been drinking. He did not think he could have hit the policeman on the face.

"Your honor, I've taken quite a lot of training, and if I had hit him on the face I would have given him more than a nose bleed," Stefanson said.

His record included convictions for possession of narcotics, contributing to juvenile delinquency and armed robbery.

UNIVERSITY SCHOOL CHAPEL
Dedicated 20th May 1962

So much kindly interest has been shown by many persons not directly connected with the school that it has been decided to hold Open House at the Chapel on Saturday, June 9th, and Sunday, June 10th, between the hours of 2 and 5.30 p.m., so that those interested may have the opportunity to see for themselves what has been done. Members of the Chapel Committee will be on hand to welcome visitors.

Officials Happy

Forest Fires Keep Low In Province

B.C. forest service officials are pretty happy over the way the forest fire situation has been in the province so far this year.

The over-all totals of fires and fire-fighting costs are way down from this stage a year ago, and there are no signs fire hazards will increase in the near future.

Yesterday, 28 fires were still burning in the province, but all were stated to be under control and none are regarded serious.

Since the fire season began May 1 there have been 247 fires costing a total of $14,800, compared to 493 fires costing $103,880 at this stage a year ago.

Prince Rupert is the only one of five forest districts where the number of fires and costs are up on last year—54 fires costing $6,400, compared to 52 fires costing $2,800 a year ago.

"The general situation is excellent," said an official. "The general hazard is low and the immediate future looks good. We are, however, keeping our fingers crossed."

Mental Case 'No Trouble'

An escaped Essondale mental patient was taken into custody by Saanich police Thursday night less than 24 hours after his disappearance was reported.

The man, who was described as "dangerous to be at large," gave no trouble, police said. He will be returned to the mainland today.

Beautiful Gurgle Explained

Gurgling sounds inside George's Beauty Salon, 747 Pandora, caught a policeman's attention at 12.50 a.m. Friday. It turned out to be a burst hot water boiler.

Proprietor George Fayad, summoned to the shop, found water two inches deep on the floor.

Today the salon was back in business, with a new boiler. There was only slight damage to stored beauty supplies, the proprietor said.

Osoyoos Cut Stays at $1

OSOYOOS (CP)—The village of Osoyoos might well become the last stand of the dollar haircut. Osoyoos barbers have decided to maintain the dollar charge, despite the action of barbers in towns and cities throughout the Okanagan increasing their prices to $1.50. In Osoyoos a child's haircut still costs only 75 cents.

Mother Revived By Her Daughter

VANCOUVER (CP)—A woman revived her aged mother Friday by mouth-to-mouth resuscitation.

Mrs. Agnes McLean said she heard her mother fall upstairs and found the older woman had apparently stopped breathing.

Mrs. McLean said she applied resuscitation and said her mother Mrs. Mary McLean, 84, responded.

A fire inhalator crew was called and the elderly woman was taken to hospital for treatment.

City Ruling Likely

No New Permits For Blight Victims?

Property owners forced to demolish a store and three houses at Kings Road and Blanshard Street will likely be denied permits to rebuild on the land.

The land is part of a 28-acre area southeast of the Fountain Circle which has been earmarked by city council for complete redevelopment.

Under the plan, council will buy all the land and buildings involved, demolish all structures and rezone the land for high-class development.

A spokesman for city hall department said last night council has the power to refuse to grant building permits for land involved in a civic redevelopment project.

He denied there was any connection between council's plans to redevelop the area and the demolition orders.

"We have been seeking demolition orders against the buildings for some time, before consideration of the redevelopment plan," he said.

Winter Works Gave Jobs to 145,000

OTTAWA (CP)—Last winter's municipal winter works incentive program, which ran from Oct. 15 to May 31, employed more than 145,000 men, Labor Minister Starr said Friday.

The statement, based on preliminary figures, was released through Mr. Starr's office here.

The figures represent a 20-per-cent increase over the previous year when 121,000 jobs were provided.

A total of 2,745 municipalities took part in the program last winter, a 28 - per - cent increase over the previous year.

During the program, $81,395,000 was spent on payrolls, of which the federal government contributed $40,417,000.

Moon Pilots Wait in Line

WASHINGTON (UPI)—The space agency said Friday it is looking over more than 230 applications from persons who want to fly to the moon.

From this list, after careful screening, the National Aeronautics and Space Administration next fall will pick a new crop of five to 10 astronauts to join the original seven.

The applications were in response to an April 18 NASA announcement listing five basic qualifications. The application deadline was June 1.

LARGER GROUP

Of the total being studied, 53 applications were supplied by the armed services after preliminary screening of a larger group of jet test pilots.

More than 200 applications came from civilians. A NASA spokesman said this group, which included many persons obviously not qualified will screen down to 15 or 20.

He said the agency will "take a hard look" at about 70 applications in all, military and civilian, before whittling the list down further.

Selection of the new astronauts will be made, probably in September or October, by Robert Gilruth, director of NASA manned spacecraft centre at Houston.

They will be subjected to intensive training similar to that given the Mercury and join the present astronauts in the post-Mercury Gemini and Apollo manned flight programs.

In Gemini, astronauts will fly in two-man spacecraft in orbital flights around the earth lasting up to a week. In Apollo, the project to land men on the moon before 1970, they will work out in three-man craft for up to two weeks.

Attack on Teacher Nets Youth Prison

An attack on a teacher at a Belmont High School graduation dance cost Gerald Haldane, 18, Jacklin Road, Glen Lake, a total of 13 months' definite and six months' indeterminate imprisonment in Oakalla.

For the assault on the teacher outside the dance hall, Haldane incurred two charges in separate courts.

He was already under two years' suspended sentence for breaking and entering Gibson's Shopping Centre in Sooke.

After he pleaded guilty to the assault charge, he was charged in Sooke court with breach of recognizances. He was sentenced to nine months' definite and six months' indeterminate imprisonment in Oakalla.

Colwood court he was sentenced to an additional four months' imprisonment on the assault charge. The second term was imposed to run consecutively from the first.

Haldane never had been a Belmont High School student.

Berry Picker Need Worries Job Service

The National Employment Service is worried about a possible shortage of berry pickers needed to harvest the Saanich berry crop.

Despite advertising and publicity, the number of applications is still far below the 1,700 required for the season, an NES spokesman said.

"Normally school students do the bulk of the harvesting, but the season will be in progress before they are out of school," said the spokesman.

Meanwhile, a sudden flood of job applications in other fields offset an encouraging job placement figure during the week.

Despite 175 job placements, the total number of persons seeking work dropped by only six, because of new applications, mostly from women.

Bear Takes Fatal Look

Paint, Pickets to Show Columbia Level Marks

VANCOUVER (CP) — Hillsides in settled areas bordering Arrow and Duncan Lakes are being marked with paint and colored pickets to show residents how high the water will rise if the lakes are converted to reservoirs for the Columbia River power development

MORE CLOSELY

Gordon Kidd, B.C. Hydro and Power Authority's Columbia co-ordinator, said the marking project will show residents exactly what lands will be affected by the spreading reservoirs and help authority planners determine more closely the scope of landowner re-location.

Small survey crews are working out of Castlegar, Edgewood-Nakusp and Revelstoke.

FOR SOUTH END

The proposed 190-foot Arrow Lakes dam, planned for the south end of Lower Arrow Lake, will raise the Arrow Lakes water level by about 45 feet, engineers predict. The lake, now covering 103,000 acres, would become one body of water covering 127,000 acres.

87 IS FEET

The 127-foot high Duncan Lake dam proposal would raise the level of that lake by 88 feet. The area of the lake would be increased to 18,500 acres from its present 7,300 acres.

Four-Year Terms For Rape Attempt

VANCOUVER (CP) — Two youths were sentenced to four years each Friday for attempting to rape a 15-year-old Vancouver girl. A third youth was given two years.

Geoffrey Knox Boucher, 20, and Thomas Carleton Allen, 17, were each sentenced to four years on a reduced charge of attempted rape. Byron Elliott, 18, was sentenced to two years.

The all-male jury reduced the charge from rape to attempted rape and recommended leniency for Elliott.

Mr. Justice R. A. Wootton told the trio:

"I must consider the deterrent effect on other persons. There has been more than enough of this miserable performance by young men.

"I must also consider mercy although you didn't consider mercy to the girl. Fortunately for you, the girl did not suffer too much injury."

Comical Bears More Deadly Than Lions

Everybody loves the bears as they frolic on bicycles and roller skates . . . like overgrown Pandas, their beady eyes bring back memories of Teddies cherished by every youngster since time immemorial.

It's the lion act that brings the gasps and cold chills.

But take it from lion-tamer Capt. Bill Horne of the Rudy Brothers Shrine Circus, that friendly-looking big Teddy is twice as deadly as any lion.

DAILY STINT

"You couldn't pay me to work with the bears," says Capt. Bill, whose daily stint calls for him to face a cage full of big cats empty-handed.

"The thing with bears is . . . nothing will stop them. You can't back them up with a whip, a pistol or a chair once they get it in their mind to go for you," said the 36-year-old veteran of 14 years with the circus.

COMIC PACES

He made the observation as he watched the performing bears of European circus veteran Johnny Welde go through their comic paces at the opening performance of the Shrine circus at the Memorial Arena.

Capt. Bill started his circus career as a roustabout. Ambition led him to apply for an apprenticeship with veteran lion trainer Capt. Keller.

GOT CHANCE

It was three years ago at an opening performance in Texas that Bill got his chance. Capt. Keller collapsed and died of a heart attack, and his protege was told he would have to take over.

"I felt pretty nervous, and since I was working with a new man outside the cage, things looked pretty black for a while," he said.

DEVELOPED ACT

Since then, he has developed his act to the point where he works without the traditional gun, whip or chair.

Voice commands and hand movements control the big cats in the cage (he works with 10 animals, including three lions, a tiger, leopards and a black panther.)

"Anyone can work cats with a whip and gun . . . if he has the courage to enter the cage," says Capt. Bill. But by going in unarmed, he proves "this is an actual trained animal act."

ON SAFE SIDE

But to be on the safe side, an attendant, armed with two blank-loaded pistols and a whip, stands close to the bars throughout the act. After all, even the best bred felines forget their manners sometimes.

The size of most lion acts is governed by a simple question of transportation costs, and his is about the biggest on tour in North America.

The traditional dread inspired by the big cats was evidenced by the minor stampede that developed at yesterday's matinee when the majority of the 2,000 youngsters in the arena charged to the north end seats for a closer look.

WITH 18 ACTS

The fast-paced, 2½-hour circus incorporates 18 acts, including two aerialist teams, an ever-popular elephant act, plus a host of clowns and pretty girls, a winning combination since the birth of the Big Top.

Wild Beach Blaze

Cliffhanging Last Resort To Kill Fire

Colwood volunteer firemen had to lower themselves with ropes and hoses down a 100-foot cliff yesterday morning to fight a beach fire that had run wild.

For the cliff-hanging firemen it was the second run at the small, stubborn fire near Albert Head.

'SAFELY' LEFT

It began from a beach fire on Saturday night. Firemen felt it could safely be left to smoulder out.

"But the wind scared it up," said Colwood Chief Ernest Emery.

A forestry crew which had been working on the tough little fire Thursday afternoon called in Colwood volunteers at 7.15 p.m. when it flared out of control.

FLAMED UP

Apparently subdued, it flamed up again yesterday morning. At one time it came within 100 feet of the house of F. W. Shaw, 3645 Far Hill Road.

Action Drags

In Vancouver has been to require the person reporting the nuisance and claiming the damage to take civil action.

MORE SERIOUS

City smoke inspector Thomas Walker said the fly ash problem was more serious than the smoke problem.

"Smoke is not so bad. I don't think it will ever be improved or changed unless they put the mills out of town."

Mr. Walker said he had discussed the cinder problem with city solicitor T. P. O'Grady but it was hard to bring a charge.

"There are seven mills producing cinders and it is very hard to go into court and prove the cinders causing one particular nuisance came from any particular source."

"I don't see why some of these people don't take action because they are suffering loss of business through the cinders."

Allan Titerle, owner of the Prince Charles Motel, felt property owners should sue the city council rather than seek damages from mill operators.

"I have a compromise . . . the city can make us (motel owners) official collection agencies for smoke and cinders and halve our taxes.

OUT FROM UNDER

"Why don't the smoke inspection people launch a prosecution under their bylaw? All he (Mr. Walker) is trying to do is get out from under.

"The city is considering spending $5,000,000 to rehabilitate blighted areas of Victoria. All they have to do to rehabilitate this area is force the smoke producers to obey the bylaw."

Ceremony Set Today — National Historic Site

Fort Rodd's New Glory to Mark Opening

Fort Rodd Hill will regain some of its former glory today when it is officially opened to the public as a national historic site.

A platform has been erected on the greensward in front of the old gun emplacements, with bunting to add a touch of color. The band of the 5th (B.C.) Med. Ind. Bty., RCA, the militia unit which manned the battery in wartime, will provide music.

There'll be speeches by George Chatterton, who, as Progressive Conservative MP in the last parliament was instrumental in getting the fort preserved, and by Lt.-Col. Aubrey Kent, chairman of the Fort Rodd Hill development committee.

The public is invited to attend brief ceremonies starting at 10 a.m. which mark the official opening of the 44-acre site which includes historic Fisgard Light, one of the oldest aids to navigation on the Pacific Coast.

After the ceremony, guests will be taken on a guided tour of the fort by William Walker, who as a young gunner 40 years ago fired the original six-inch guns.

Mr. Walker recalls: "These were the original six-inch disappearing-type guns installed by the British in the period 1890 to 1900, when there was a chance of war with Russia.

"There was no recoil mechanism on the guns. They were lifted into firing position by a big arm attached to a cylinder that took 1,250 pounds of pressure. At the start of any shoot it took eight men on a double-action pump to pump that amount of pressure into the cylinder.

"The concussion blew the gun back on the stocks and the ram recharged the cylinder for the next firing.

Mr. Walker, who will be 70 this summer, served with the Imperial Forces in France during the First World War and was commissioned in the field. He came to Canada after the armistice and joined the 5th Heavy Battery, RCGA, 1921.

As a member of the permanent force he spent many summers between the wars carrying out summer training at Fort Rodd Hill. During the Second World War he was garrison sergeant-major.

When he joined the corps of commissionaires five years ago, he was assigned to the old fort and found it had fallen into disrepair.

In recent weeks much of the weatherbeaten look has disappeared. Workmen have cut away the scrub bush, trimmed the grass, applied paint to gates and railings, and generally cleaned up in preparation for the first influx of visitors.

"It's wonderful what they have done in a short time," said Mr. Walker.

He added, "Of course, it doesn't look quite as it did in the best days, but it certainly is an improvement." Mr. Walker is willing to make special appointments to guide visitors who call him at EV 3 3308.

The fort will be open to the public from 9 a.m. to one hour before sunset seven days a week.

First Duty-Free Store Brings Reaction Chorus

By TED PULFORD

The duty-free shop—which allows visitors to the country to purchase articles at huge discounts—is based upon an idea which will intrigue you, anger you or bore you depending upon what rung of the economic ladder you happen to be occupying at the time.

News that construction of western Canada's first duty-free store has begun in the Sidney area brought a chorus of reaction here ranging all the way from outrage, through approval to complete unconcern.

Mail Order

Operating something like a long-distance mail order firm, the duty-free shop will cater strictly to visitors from out side the country. By operating in conjunction with a bonded warehouse and not shipping the goods until the purchaser returns home, it can operate at a whopping discount.

Working in this way allows the duty-free shop to circumvent import duties imposed by the federal government on most consumer goods brought into this country from abroad.

Cool on Idea

Most Victoria merchants are cool on the idea of an operation of this sort being set up on the Island—and they particularly don't want a similar one here in the city.

Those most opposed to the idea are those now retailing imported merchandise upon which buyers must pay stiff duty charges.

One-Third Less

British woollens, imported watches and German optical instruments and cameras, for instance, can be sold by the duty-free shops at about one-third less than the price posted by an ordinary retail outlet.

Alec Straith of George Straith Ltd.—a firm specializing in high-quality clothing imports—doesn't like the principle which permits duty-free shops to operate but admits nobody in his firm is losing sleep over the prospect.

He Can't See

"These people don't pay duty and they constitute unfair competition. I can't see why the government allows them."

Despite the healthy savings available to budget-conscious visitors at the duty-free stores, Mr. Straith points out that many of the services offered as part of the bargain by a retailer, aren't included by the duty-free shops.

Wide Range

"People like to be properly fitted and they like to see a wide range of goods when they buy," he said. "I suppose it's all right if you're satisfied with buying out of a catalogue."

Ray Rose, proprietor of Rose's Jewellers, doesn't seem to think the duty-free shops constitute a problem.

He agrees the price of a watch can be slashed when duty isn't added on, but says very few American visitors buy watches when they come here anyway.

"Usually, they bring their watches and cameras with them."

What does annoy the jeweller is the report the store is opening its doors at Sidney, not far from the ferry terminal.

"If we have to have these things, let's at least have them in Victoria."

Placing Shop

Decision to place the shop in Sidney was reached by the company after careful consideration of traffic flow to and from the Island.

Patrons of such an establishment are considered most likely to buy on their way home, and the new store will be available to people heading for the airport or ferry terminals.

Hotel men, restaurant owners and tourist promoters are generally warm to the idea.

Another Facet

They see duty-free shops as just another facet of a booming tourist economy and one more way of stimulating the flow of foreign dollars into the area.

Shoppers who visit a duty-free store for the first time will be in for a unique retailing experience. At no time do they actually see the item they are buying — although samples are often available.

Pays in Cash

The customer pays for his purchase in cash, then receives a receipt which he presents to the customs officials at the border of his own country when he returns home.

The receipt is then mailed back to the shop and the purchase is delivered—in bond—to the customer's address.

Hot-Rodders Irk Shelbourne Folk

JIM SUTHERLAND

Some 130 residents of Shelbourne Street have petitioned city police to use radar to catch hot-rodding youths who use part of the street as a dragstrip.

Les Gray, 2845 Shelbourne, Claude Hunt, 2833 Shelbourne, and Bruce Reynolds, 2836 Shelbourne, collected 129 signatures from residents living on Shelbourne between Hillside and Haultain.

FEW REFUSALS

"We only got three refusals from residents," Mr. Gray said last night.

"People have been congratulating us, thanking us for letting them put their names on the petition."

Mr. Hunt said the petition was circulated in an attempt to stop hot-rodders speeding along the straight, smooth road.

'FINISH' LINE

A red line, with the word "finish" was recently painted across Shelbourne at Ryan Street.

At least one resident has moved from Shelbourne because of cars racing along the road, he said.

Chalet Wishing Well

Has Frogman Robbed Sick?

"The meanest thief in Canada" has robbed the Wishing Well at Malahat Chalet of $250 in coins intended for the Multiple Sclerosis Society.

A limber and hard-working bandit—possibly clad in a frogman suit—has dunked himself seven times in the four-foot-deep well since August, 1961.

The most recent theft, Thursday night, yielded him a total of $10 in rusty nickels, pennies, dimes and quarters.

LITTLE MEANER

"I can't think of anything meaner than that—aside from robbing the church box," said Chalet proprietor William Doersam.

"If they had the guts to break into the place and give us a chance to catch them it would be all right, but they're just sneaks in the night.

HAVE TO SLEEP

"We've sat up night after night trying to catch them, but we have to sleep sometimes.

"They've got by us each time. Usually it's on a Tuesday. This time it was Thursday.

"It's four feet deep and three feet wide. The only way would be to get right in the well in a wet suit or a snorkel helmet. It would be about a half-hour chore."

BAD TROUBLE

Mr. Doersam said he would like to hear from anyone who had seen suspicious people approaching the Chalet at night.

"If I catch them, somebody's going to get in bad trouble," he said.

Third Concert Slated Sunday

The band and choir of Oak Bay High School will give the third of four weekly concerts in Beacon Hill Park this Sunday at 3.30 p.m. The band is conducted by E. A. Eames, and the school choir performs under direction of L. S. Henderson.

Chinatown Defended

Read the Plans Architect Told

A Vancouver architect's criticism of Victoria's Chinatown yesterday drew an angry blast from city Ald. A. W. Toone.

Fred Thornton Hollingsworth said in Victoria this week it was a shame Victoria's Chinatown has been condemned.

"A half-baked park plaza is slated to take the place of Victoria's historic Chinatown," he said.

"Those buildings might just as easily be renovated inside so the charm and history of their exterior could be preserved."

Ald. Toone is chairman of a council committee which plans to rehabilitate blighted areas of the city, including Chinatown.

READ PLANS

"As far as Chinatown is concerned, I would suggest Mr. Hollingsworth read our plans," he said.

"The plan for Chinatown is for rehabilitation of the buildings inside.

"It has never been condemned. The mall and rehabilitation of the buildings will add to the whole area."

SHORT MALL

Tourist Hurt In Car Crash

An American visitor, Stanley Owens of Seattle, was treated for severe lacerations and undetermined injuries last night when his car struck a power pole at Quadra near Tolmie.

His condition was described as fair by Royal Jubilee Hospital officials.

Witnesses said the car first struck a steel speed limit sign near the intersection, then spun around and struck a power pole head on. The car was heavily damaged.

New Clue To Peter?

A 16-inch army bayonet found in Beacon Hill Park recently is being tested by police in connection with the disappearance of Peter Woycheshin two weeks ago.

The bayonet was found by Bob Walters, 13, of 1617 Wilmot Place, in the park.

Amazed Bennett Will Tell Absolutely Amazing Tale

Peter Bruton's NOTEBOOK

WAY DOWN YONDER: We telephoned Premier Bennett in Winnipeg yesterday.

"How's the Social Credit campaign going?" we asked.

"It's amazing, my friend," chortled the premier.

"Things good in Quebec?"

"I'm amazed," said the premier. "Not just in Quebec but in the Maritimes . . . I came from there y'know . . . and in eastern Ontario. All the French newspapers have been devoting pages to us . . . and now the English papers . . . full, whole pages. It's amazing."

He paused, then continued ominously.

"We've hit the other parties with a mighty blow, my friend," he confided. "Now the attacks will start . . ."

"And what have you got in store for us for your big Victoria meeting next week?" we asked.

"I'll have a story to tell," he said. "It's amazing . . . absolutely amazing."

You can bet on that!

NOR THE YEARS CONDEMN: Reporter Ian Street was covering the Victoria pioneers' garden party the other day when an elderly gentleman approached him.

"What was the name?" said the senior citizen.

"Street," replied Ian.

"And what paper?"

"The Colonist."

"Oh, yes," replied the pioneer. "I knew one of your boys once. He was a nice chap. Name of Amor De Cosmos!"

★ ★ ★

RETURN TO PARADISE: The other day we reprinted some of the views of Victoria contained in the bulletin of the recreation and conservation department's fish and game branch which recently moved here from Vancouver.

One comment slipped our attention.

"Sometimes in Victoria you feel yourself becoming wary or 'cagey' when in conversation with a stranger because they seem so helpful and so anxious to be of assistance you feel there must be a catch in it somewhere.

"It takes a little time to realize that, for the most part, this seems to be a trait of this city.

"Politeness reigns here, possibly because of the constraint enforced by the cramped downtown district, the care that must be taken driving or walking the narrow streets. We don't know but it's here. Even the children are very well behaved so far in our experience."

★ ★ ★

LA TRIVIATA: Fathers of three recent sets of twins in the city all had one thing in common — they were beard growers! Researchers could have a field day with that one. . . . Geoff Ellis says he hears tell of a small boy at a local stationery store peering over the counter and asking hopefully: "Have you any blank report cards?" . . . Harry Gregson now says his Victoria weekly newspaper will have an independent editorial policy. . . . A spy notes that every time he sees one of those double-decker buses go by hardly anyone is sitting on the lower levels. Why not just have a tall bus?

★ ★ ★

INSTANT ITEM: Middle age is the time when a man starts turning out the light for economical rather than romantic reasons!

Former city traffic engineer Norman Worsley is among a number of persons called before a top-level committee conducting a full-scale survey of the city public works department.

Chisholm Warns: — New Occupation Centre

Don't Attach Stigma to Retarded

A group of 25 parents, who for seven years have engaged in an unremitting battle against the ignorance and apathy surrounding mentally-retarded children, saw a dream come true yesterday.

The Greater Victoria Association for the Retarded officially opened the door of its new occupation centre at 1450 Elford.

A brief ceremony, presided over by former World Health Organization director Dr. Brock Chisholm, marked an important victory for the little group which seven years ago banded together to fight the stigma which attaches to mental retardation.

Association president Laurence Cottrell, in an interview following the brief ceremony, told of some of the problems which beset the group after a plan for the centre had been conceived.

"It has been a continual struggle to make people accept the problem of retardation in the community; then to urge them to do something about it."

Dr. Chisholm agreed. "People all over the world have always attached some sort of stigma to the birth of a retarded child in the family," he said.

"They seem to think that the arrival of a retarded child represents divine retribution for something the family has done."

Purpose of the centre, a converted seven-room house, will be two-fold. Special training will be aimed at making the youngsters productive at some craft, while at the same time a concerted attempt will be made to keep the children happy with their environment.

Besides volunteer helpers, the centre will be staffed by a crafts teacher and full-time director.

Since the Victoria school board accepted responsibility for retarded children of school age, the society will focus its efforts on pre-school and post-school youngsters.

In his address, Dr. Chisholm paid tribute to the parents who had organized the centre.

Mr. and Mrs. J. Lorne McLeod, 454 St. Julian Street, Duncan, wish to announce the engagement of their only daughter, Donna Faye, to Mr. George Robert Lechner, eldest son of Mr. and Mrs. George F. Lechner, 6572 Ross Street, Vancouver. The marriage will take place in Duncan United Church, Saturday, July 7 at 8 p.m. the Rev. Bernard Knipe officiating. Attendants will be Mrs. R. C. Rothnie, Miss Diane Wilson, Mr. R. C. Rothnie, best man and David McLeod and Edward Lechner ushers. Miss McLeod is a 1959 graduate of the Royal Jubilee Hospital. Mr. Lechner attended UBC and is at present articling with Price Waterhouse and Co.

Michelle Robert Bride Of James Walter Fearn

A classic gown of white French brocade was chosen by Michelle Dianne Robert, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. A. Robert, King George Terrace, for her marriage to Mr. James Walter Fearn, son of the late Mr. and Mrs. Walter Fearn, of Bralorne, B.C.

Rev. Father J. Mallon officiated at the double ring ceremony which took place in Holy Rosary Cathedral, Vancouver.

The bodice of the gown featured a portrait neckline and was styled on princess lines. The full skirt which was enhanced with a large bow at back, swept to a slight train. A floor-length veil of imported net edged with lace, was held by a coronet of pearls, orange blossom and stephanotis.

She wore a gold watch, the gift of the groom.

Miss Pamela Robert, bridesmaid, was in sunset pink and Miss Angela Maher in aqua. Their dresses were organza, ballerina length, and they had toning picture hats and shoes. The hats were trimmed with fresh white flowers.

Best man was Mr. James Simms and Mr. H. Lavasseur and Mr. D. Johnson were ushers.

Mr. Douglas Adair proposed a toast at the reception at HMCS Discovery in Stanley Park. Stephanotis topped the silver-decorated wedding cake.

Mrs. Fearn donned a gold shantung sheath with matching three-quarter length coat for a honeymoon to Harrison Hot Springs. Her outfit was complemented with bone white accessories and gardenia corsage.

The newlyweds will make their home in Victoria.

Miss Patricia Skibo, Belmont Avenue, is shown as she stopped to pose on deck of the National Hellenic American Line's luxury flagship, "Ss Queen Frederica" upon her arrival in New York harbor from a six month holiday tour of the continent.

Oakcrest Children Entertain

The children of the morning group of the Oakcrest Playschool entertained their mothers at a recent concert. They were directed by Mrs. E. Davies and Mrs. F. Howell. Mrs. Howell is leaving this month to make her home in Halifax.

Those taking part were Suzanne Hibbert, Cheryl Straith, Colleen Message, Marcia Jensen, Margo Clapp, Sandy Beurker, Robbie Cowan, Robbie Starr, Blake Hanna, Rickey Wilson, Michael Templeman and Ian Boorer and Jaffrey Barnett of the pre-primary group.

Also Janice Ducklit, Barbara Conyers, Marilyn Starr, Gerry Morrison, Brad Champion, Gary Curtis, Ricky Campbell, Bruce Lum, Robbie Clarke, John Wrigley, Rusty Hartley and Richard Hibbert.

Mrs. Acland Opens Tea

FULFORD—Mrs. J. B. Acland opened the garden party and tea at the home of Mr. and Mrs. A. E. Roddis recently. The affair was sponsored by the St. Mary's Guild and the proceeds of the day came to $57. A well-stocked home-cooking stall was soon emptied, as there was a splendid turnout of people from all over the Island. Teas were served on the patio by Mrs. A. O. Lacy, Mrs. R. R. Alton, Mrs. McManus Sr. and Mrs. McManus Jr., Mrs. A. D. Dane, Mrs. F. Olason, Miss D. Anderson and Mrs. J. Stewart.

Mrs. A. Stevens was convener of the home-cooking stall and was assisted by Mrs. G. Ruckle and Gwen, Miss Nan Ruckle and Mrs. W. Y. Stewart. Mrs. F. L. Jackson was general convener.

'It's a Bit of a Secret'

LONDON (AP) — For the first time in history, this year's Wimbledon championships may see a bare-backed lady tennis player.

Brazil's Maria Bueno is expected to wear a daring dress that will plunge down her shapely back to her trim waistline.

This could cause almost as big a sensation as Gussie Moran's lace-trimmed panties in 1949.

"Miss Bueno's hasn't tried the dress on the court yet," said designer Teddy Tinling, "but she's very excited about it."

The design of Miss Bueno's backless dress seemed to include no uplifting provisions.

"Oh, we've thought of that," said one of Tinling's assistants. "definitely there'll be one, and definitely it won't show."

Asked to explain, he replied:

"It's a bit of a secret. Let us say that it's a nice piece of engineering."

The Wimbledon championships begin June 25.

Your Problems

By Ann Landers

Dear Ann Landers: I have a dear friend whose company I enjoy thoroughly. She is kind, intelligent, witty and gracious. The problem is her husband. I don't know how much longer I can tolerate him.

He knows everything. Just mention a subject and he's an authority. Name a place and he's been there. There is no living person he hasn't met at one time or another. He corrects people's statements, improves their English and assumes the role of "Chairman" whenever two or more people are present. His voice is loud and he can drown out anyone.

In addition to these attractive qualities, he has a habit of pawing women. I don't mean he's lecherous, Ann—he's just the "confidential" type who likes to put his arm around a woman's waist when he talks to her about gardening or politics.

I'm fond of his wife and I hate to think of not seeing her socially. But this man of hers! Would it be wise to say something to her—in a tactful way of course?

FRIEND

Dear Friend: It is never a good idea to critize a man to his wife or vice versa. Regardless of the spirit in which the criticism is made it's seldom appreciated.

If your friend's husband is such a pain in the neck, see the woman in the afternoon. Don't try to continue the friendship on a "couples" basis.

★ ★ ★

Dear Ann Landers: Our 17-year-old son is going steady with a girl who is also 17. We've always made it clear to our children that they may bring their friends home whenever they wish.

This girl walked into the house with my son this afternoon. I was entertaining guests in the living room. My friends were strangers to her. She actually sat on my son's lap and ran her fingers through his hair. He was embarrassed but said nothing. I was so upset over her cheap behavior I could scarcely hold my head up.

When the girl got off my son's lap to leave she kissed him passionately in the presence of all of us. He turned white and looked as if he might faint. I didn't say one word to him after she left and he said nothing to me. He avoided looking at me at the dinner table.

Should I have made a point of the incident or was I wise to say nothing?

UNSTRUNG

Dear Unstrung: You were wise, Mother. Anything you might say would have been anti-climactic after the girl's performance. Some decisions are best arrived at without help. I'm sure your son appreciated the silence.

★ ★ ★

Dear Ann Landers: I'm a boy 14 and only in the seventh grade. I belong in the ninth grade but I was sick a year and a half with heart trouble and had to stay at home.

My sister is 12 and she is in my room at school. Believe me it's tough to be in the same grade with a sister who is smarter and two years younger. I hate to recite in class because I sound dumb compared with her.

There are times when I've thought of quitting school the day it's legal but I know this would be a mistake. Now I'd like your advice on whether I should change schools. My favorite teacher told me I could get special permission from the board of education, but I'm afraid I will miss my friends. What is your advice?

B.

Dear B.: Apparently your favorite teacher is encouraging you to change schools. She's right. Listen to her.

You will make new friends at the new school and you may even keep the old friends from the old school. So you win all the way 'round.

Easy Does It with WIN PACKER

Nutritionists tell us for all top-of-the-stove cookery — sauces, puddings, frostings, candy, etc., flavoring should be added AFTER the food has been cooked. They explain that flavoring evaporates during the cooking period and so loses its effectiveness.

And here are a few more flavor tips. If ground beef sometimes seems tasteless, add a few drops of lemon juice and you'll get the utmost flavor from the meat. For the best-tasting sandwiches, salt the buttered bread instead of the filling. A pinch of dry mustard does wonders for cheese dishes, and tomatoes acquire a deliciously new flavor with a sprinkling of cinnamon instead of pepper.

Just an odd trick or two can so often add real zest to our everyday foods and earn us a reputation of being a wonderful cook. Do you have any tips you'd like to share with us? We'd be glad to print them.

Bird Song Irks Her

VILLA NOVA MONFERRATO, Italy (AP) — Every time Mrs. Maddalena de Michelis passed the church the blackbird whistled a tune called Kill the Old Lady with Gas.

She complained to police and finally the mayor, and a high court Thursday was asked to decide whether the whistling blackbird whistled out of personal malice or love of Italian lyrics.

A lower court ruled the bird was guilty to disturbing the peace and ordered the church sexton, who caught him and taught him to whistle Italian tunes, to pay a fine of 10,000 lire ($16). Sexton Giovanni Vergamo appealed.

The higher court still has to rule on the case.

We're the third province in Canada... not the last!

Why is it that more often than not the smaller provinces of Canada receive proportionately greater Federal aid and recognition than British Columbia? The answer is plain. While Members of Parliament from the other provinces have spoken out aggressively on behalf of their constituents, your MPs have failed to win effective support for British Columbia's legitimate interests. Obstruction of the Peace and Columbia power projects, unfair treatment of our great highways and bridges programme, inadequate share of defense contracts, and the refusal to grant a subsidy to the PGE comprise just a few examples. Without strong voices in Ottawa, British Columbia's progress in the creation of new industry, new jobs and a better environment in which you can work and live will be slowed down. Now's the time for a change. As Canada's third province in population and manufacturing production, British Columbia demands to be heard. Vote for your Social Credit candidate — the one man who will really speak out on your behalf!

Dramatic evidence of the continuing unfair treatment British Columbia has received from Liberals and Conservatives in Ottawa: in 1961, Federal Government tax revenue collections from British Columbia amounted to $597,600,000, but that Government's total expenditures were only $143,600,000; the excess of the Federal Government's collections over expenditures was $454,000,000!

Many Against It

Praying for Yourself

By LOUIS CASSELS
United Press International

A few hours after Scott Carpenter was picked up from a life raft in the Atlantic, a reporter asked the astronaut's wife, Rene:

"Did you pray?"

"No, I did not," Mrs. Carpenter replied. "I feel the same as Scott does, that it is presumptuous to pray for oneself."

* * *

The Carpenters are churchgoing Episcopalians who evidently have given serious thought to the whole question of prayer. In feeling it is wrong to offer "selfish" prayers, they are not alone. Many sincere and intelligent people have the same attitude.

Their reasoning goes something like this:

* * *

"Since God is infinitely wise, he knows my problems and needs better than I do, and there is no reason for me to call them to his attention. Pleading with him to help me is an insult to his love, because he needs no urging to do what is best for me."

This attitude is obviously grounded in a strong faith. It reflects a much higher degree of spiritual maturity than the widespread notion that prayer is some kind of magical gimmick by which men may bend God to their will.

But when all of this has been said, it is necessary to add that Jesus did not share the view that it is "presumptuous to pray for oneself."

In the model prayer which he taught his disciples, he included as "selfish" and mundane a petition as one can imagine:

"Give us this day our daily bread."

* * *

When the hour drew near for him to suffer and die, he went with some of his closest friends to a little park outside Jerusalem called the garden of Gethsemane. He threw himself on the ground, and according to Mark's gospel, "horror and dismay came over him."

"Father," he prayed, "all things are possible to thee. Take this cup away from me."

* * *

The scene is a vivid reminder to Christians that the New Testament scriptures, which bear witness to Jesus' divinity, also insist on his full humanity. He was "a man such as we," subject to the same fears, dreads and temptations. And in the ultimate crisis of his life, he pleaded with God to spare him from pain and death.

* * *

But his prayer did not end with that cry for help. On the heels of the petition came the words which have stood ever since as the hallmark of Christian prayer:

"Nevertheless, not my will but Thine be done."

* * *

As many Christians have learned from experience, the "nevertheless" is not easy to say sincerely. But when it is truly said, it transforms the whole prayer.

Church Donations Total $1,735,000

TORONTO (CP) — Presbyterians gave a record $1,735,000 to their church in 1961, the 88th General Assembly of the Presbyterian Church of Canada was told Thursday.

Money given by the church's 200,000 communicants exceeded the 1960 total by $113,151.

Cantata Singers Scheduled Tonight

The Vancouver Cantata Singers, directed by Hugh McLean, visit Victoria today.

They will be heard in Rossini's Petite Messe Solonnelle at Christ Church Cathedral at 8 p.m.

Proud Moment

Salvation army campaign organizers look over some of results achieved by hard-working canvassers. Holding tape is Brig. Cliff Milley, organizer of $50,000 campaign. Standing behind him is Ed Gudewill, co-chairman of industrial canvass. Doug Nelson, chairman of HMCS Dockyard civilian personnel canvass, looks on.

HONORS CLERIC

The town of Lacombe, 110 miles north of Calgary, was so named in 1893 in honor of the noted Roman Catholic missionary, Father Lacombe.

THE VOICE OF ONE

By REV. DR. FRANK S. MORLEY

Jesus said He brought into society new wines which required new bottles. His words apply to Canada today.

Three turning-points have marked new eras in mankind's history. The invention of agriculture made settled communities possible. Fire made man independent of climate and led to the industrial age.

Now the nuclear age has not only annihilated space and made possible the annihilation of the human race, but has made possible also the evaporation of sea water, the irrigation of the desert, the transformation of climate, and revolutions in medicine.

Woe to that nation which does not understand that ours is no mere new advance, but a new stage in evolution, a new era of mankind. Professor Walt Rostow of the Massachusetts Institute of Technology warned against "neurotic fixations of history"—refusing to accept radically new situations and keep pace with reality.

New Concepts

We are passing through utterly new concepts of the human mind which include an industrial and technological revolution, utterly revolutionizing mankind's existence, with new concepts of social organization, war and peace, trade, international relations, and scientific discovery.

As Harold Wincott said of us in the Financial Times, for years Canada moved on steadily, people with an aim, a nation with a purpose, a land of opportunity, but now we are confused and uncertain.

Canada needs a compass by which she can move toward her expanding horizons. She needs more hard thinking and hard questions. Are the Canadian people prepared to face the challenges and changes of our time, to make the necessary sacrifices?

We talk much of easy solutions and sedatives, of subsidies and security, of prosperity and profits, too little of hard effort and opportunity. Even more dangerous than reaction is self-indulgence.

Canada was not created by the spiritually sluggish and the socially indolent, by the fat and complacent, the faithless and the cowardly. The makers of Canada were men who knew with Thucydides, "The secret of happiness is freedom, and the secret of freedom is courage."

A Happier Life

Democracy with personal freedom and personal responsibility offers to men a larger, happier life than any humanity has ever known. We know the way, but do we lack the will?

We are at one of those rare moments in history when we shall either move with dynamic certainty toward long-range goals, or—wavering and weak—slip back into the trough of history and be overwhelmed by the tides of our time.

A soldier, accused of cowardice, was brought before Alexander the Great. When the king discovered the soldier's name was also Alexander, he said, "Either you must get into the forefront of the battle or you must change your name, for you bear a great name!"

We Canadians bear a great name too! To develop the resources of this fair land, to increase its unity, to summon its spirit, to reveal its destiny, and with unwavering purpose to lead it to the fulfilment of its promise and power—to this we are called.

Davey and Goliath, popular children's series of the United Lutheran Church of America, is carried on 21 Canadian TV stations.

500 Children to Join Church Pilgrimage

More than 500 Anglican Sunday school children—all 12 years of age—will join in a pilgrimage to Christ Church Cathedral Sunday.

The idea of the pilgrimage is symbolic of the visit of Jesus to the temple in Jerusalem at the age of 12.

Series of small groups will be conducted on a teaching pilgrimage of the mother church of the diocese and presented with a special memento of the occasion by Dean Brian Whitlow. A church service will follow.

Each group will consist of five children accompanied by an adult who will remain with them at all times. Groups are expected from as far away as the Gulf Islands and Jordan River.

A prominent part in the pilgrimage will be taken by Dr. K. M. King, president of the teachers' association. Canon R. E. Howell, in charge of the teaching program, and Mrs. Alan Sutton, who is in general charge.

Business Peace Church Job

TORONTO (CP) — W. Stanford Reid, professor of history at McGill University, said Friday the Presbyterian Church should encourage co-operation between employer and employee.

"In this country we will wreck the economy if we continue with the crazy idea that employer and employee must fight each other," he told the 88th general assembly of the Presbyterian Church in Canada.

NOT GOD'S ORDER

"The church must state that continual conflict is not God's order. We should encourage co-operation between these two before we talk about the government creating jobs."

Prof. Reid was speaking on a resolution recording "intense dissatisfaction with the present unemployment situation in Canada."

TO WELL-BEING

The resolution, presented by the church's board of evangelism and social action, described unemployment as "one of the major threats to the well-being of the nation," and called on the federal government to "treat the problem as a national emergency, comparable to the emergencies of war."

TV TALK

By JIM TAYLOR

This is the weekend for one of the most-publicized shows of the television season—Julie Andrews and Carol Burnett at Carnegie Hall. You'll pardon me if I sort of sneak-up on the television set with a slight sense of distrust.

The show goes on the CBC (channels 2 and 6), Sunday at 9 p.m., and Monday night at 10 on channels 7, 11 and 12. Certainly it has all the ingredients of a smash.

But I keep remembering the other "special" that got the big build-up earlier this year — The World of Lerner and Loewe. It had all the ingredients too, and it was a bomb.

After all that build-up, the show was one of the most painful hours of the season. So bring on Carol and Julie and turn them loose. But no advance raves this time. Let's just wait and see.

"The bottom half of the picture is inverted."

Saturday's Highlights

11.00 a.m.—Films on Life of the Queen Mother, and Royal Tournament—2, 6.

11.30—Queen Mother Elizabeth presents the new regimental colors to the Black Watch Royal Highland Regiment in Montreal—2 and 6.

5.00—Medicine 1962 shows The Electronic Heart—5.

10.30—Keyhole shows the techniques of "grab-and-run" thieves, as described by a pair of ex-crooks—4.

Saturday's Sports

10.45 a.m.—Baseball, New York Yankees vs. Baltimore Orioles—7, 11 and 12.

11.30—Baseball, Pittsburgh Pirates vs. Milwaukee Braves—5.

1.30 p.m.—Belmont Stakes horse race—2, 6, 7, 11 and 12.

5.15—Argonaut Stakes horse race—11.

7.00—Boxing, heavyweights Eddie Machen and Cleveland Williams—4.

Bowling shows on channels 2 and 6 at 1 p.m.; channel 7 at 4.30; channel 11 at 6.30, and channel 4 at 7.

Wrestling shows on channel 6 at 4 p.m.; channel 7 at 6; channel 11 at 10, and channel 8 at 11.20.

Saturday's Movies

10.00 a.m.—White Eagle (western)—4.

2.00 p.m.—Stand Up and Cheer (1934 musical), Shirley Temple—4.

2.00—To be announced—6.

2.30—Track of the Cat (1954 adventure), Robert Mitchum—5.

4.00—When Johnny Comes Marching Home (1942 musical), Donald O'Connor—4.

★ 7.30—Last Holiday (1950 drama), Alec Guinness—6.

★ 9.00—Bad and the Beautiful (1952 drama, winner of six Oscars), Kirk Douglas—2 and 6.

9.00—Demetrius and the Gladiators (1954 Biblical drama), Victor Mature—5.

11.00—Salty O'Rourke (1954 drama), Alan Ladd—7.

11.00—Case of the Howling Dog (1934 Perry Mason mystery), Warren William—11.

★ 11.00—Magnificent Ambersons (superb 1942 drama), Joseph Cotton—12.

11.10—A Bride for Frank (1956 Italian-made comedy), Walter Chiari—2.

11.10—Beware, My Lovely (1952 drama), Ida Lupino—6.

★ 11.15—Letter to Three Wives (1949 drama), Jeanne Crain—4.

★ Recommended.

Experience is the best teacher of play of the hand. Mathematics helps a bit when you face an unfamiliar situation, but in most cases the "math" is so simple it is not nearly as valuable as common sense. Even if you have never encountered a trump situation like declarer in today's deal, you should be able to work out the right play in a few seconds.

Opening lead: ♠ Q

South removed from three no trump on the theory that his hand would be at least one trick more valuable at hearts. He considered it unlikely that north would have a double stopper in spades plus a sufficiently strong club and diamond holding to run nine tricks, especially if North held no values in the heart suit.

Dummy's ace won the spade lead and the heart ace was cashed. South came to his hand with the diamond king and led the heart jack to West's queen. Declarer ruffed the next spade and led still another trump. East made his two trump tricks and exited with a spade. South ruffed with his last trump and cashed dummy's club ace and king which he had unguarded in the course of the trump leads. Next he led to the diamond queen. Now if the diamonds have divided evenly, or if the same player who began with four diamonds also held three clubs, the contract would have been made —but this didn't come about, and South muttered something about "my usual luck."

Though declarer was unlucky, he was also inept. The correct play is a low trump the second time the suit is led. If the suit divided 3/3, no play matters. If the suit is stacked 4/2, there is twice as much chance of finding Q-x or K-x as there is of striking the opponents with exactly 9-x.

Lots of Bars, Fine View Building Not for Tourists

By GERRY McNEIL

QUEBEC (CP) — There's a fine edifice on the Plains of Abraham with plenty of bars and a superb view of the St. Lawrence River.

It isn't a tourist trap. It's patronized mainly by an exclusive group of the provincial population.

You have to operate through a judge to get a reservation, and a lawyer to break it.

A few hundred yards away are the cliffs Wolfe's men scaled in 1759 to win Canada. Next door is the staid provincial museum and across the plain are $200-a-month luxury apartments.

Gene Letourneau, 62-year-old governor of the Quebec Provincial Jail, notes that the Chateau Frontenac, which hasn't a choice Plains location, has fewer bars.

"You go to the Chateau and they charge $5 extra for a river-side view," he tells restless guests. "I don't charge anything."

Like Quebec's other major jails, the one on the Plains has an idyllic location.

When the Provincial Jail was built in 1854 it was a good distance from Quebec City. Residents didn't regard the treasured Plains as a playground.

Now Quebec has grown around the jail and so has the tourist trade. Lovers neck, visitors rubberneck, athletes play and families picnic in its shade.

During the day, Mr. Letourneau says, friends of prisoners mingle with the crowds and toss such items as files and pistols over the 22 - foot walls of the courtyard. The court is regularly combed by two guards before prisoners enter.

FAVORS MOVE

These are some of the reasons Mr. Letourneau, a 62-year-old middleweight once a rugged bantamweight boxer, favors a move to Ile de Orleans, in the St. Lawrence northeast of Quebec City.

The 108 - year - old jail wasn't built for modern facilities such as plumbing and electricity. It's more a dungeon-type jail.

There are only 183 cells for its 201, at last count, prisoners.

NOT ON ISLE

But Attorney-General Georges Lapalme said that while it has been decided in principle to build a new provincial jail for the Quebec region, it would not be located on Ile de Orleans.

Mr. Lapalme said that if the island was not an historic site and if no one lived on it, it would have been ideal. But consideration was being given instead to a region north of the city

Apparently, Quebec is not going to make the same mistake again.

Expectant Aerialist Gave Final Show

MONTREAL (CP) — When should a pregnant tight-rope walker quit tight - rope walking to have her baby?

Mrs. Emil Goetschis of Sarasota, Fla. billed as Lola with the Wonders on Wheels, a professional unicycle and tight - rope act, faced that problem before her son Emil Jr., now 11, was born.

★ ★ ★

"When Emil was expected I kept performing for seven months. Then I consulted a doctor in Providence, R.I., where we were playing and asked him if I could go on working.

"He told me it depended on the kind of work I was doing.

"'I'm with the circus,' I said.

★ ★ ★

"'That's nice,' he said. 'What do you do in the circus?'

"'I walk tight - rope,' I said. He nearly fell off his chair.

"'You go ahead and perform tonight,' he said, 'because I've got tickets. But quit tomorrow.'"

Smoking Blamed For Fire

Careless smoking, not faulty wiring was the probable cause of a fire that gutted the home of Mr. and Mrs. Arthur Bean, 1417 Camosun, at 3 a.m. Wednesday.

This is the opinion of Victoria Fire Chief James E. Bayliss.

"We checked the report of faulty wiring, and it isn't so," the chief said.

The fire is believed to have started in the lower part of the house. Mr. Bean was away from home at the time. Mrs. Bean and two children escaped from upstairs bedrooms after a lodger, Albert Lundgren, who occupied a room downstairs, had given the alarm.

Mother to 322

She Was Lonely

CALGARY (CP)—Mrs. E. J. Hall has been mother to 322 babies during the last 23 years.

She acts as foster mother to homeless children, taking care of them for the Calgary children's aid department until the department locates an adopted home.

★ ★ ★

The department recently honored Mrs. Hall as Foster Mother of the Year.

Mrs. Hall takes in as many as six children at a time, some for only a short time, others for up to five years.

It is sometimes difficult to part with her charges, she said. "I have shed many tears over little ones who are just like my own."

★ ★ ★

Mrs. Hall began her career as a foster mother at the suggestion of a friend. She took the suggestion because "I was all by myself and had to do something."

Mrs. Hall, who cares for her charges with no help, raised seven children of her own, all of whom now are married.

Adult Duties Match Freedoms High School Graduates Warned

Among graduates at Mount View High School ceremonies were Kathy James and Terry James, president of Students Council. They are not related. School has 149 students in graduating class.

Largest graduating class was at Victoria High School. Picked from 418 members as class valedictorian was Susan Mason, shown with Neil Worboys, president of student council. Former principal H. L. Smith was the guest speaker at ceremonies in packed auditorium.

'Don't Waste Ability'

Tomorrow's world cannot afford the luxury of wasted abilities, Lands and Forest Minister Ray Williston told high school graduates last night.

In five Greater Victoria high schools with graduating classes totalling 1,081, there was a variety of speakers but the message was the same.

Mr. Williston told Mt. Douglas High School's 113 graduates they must cherish the right of individual freedom to make their own life, but also must be prepared to shoulder the responsibility it entails.

UTILIZE SKILLS

The minister, a former school inspector and minister of education, said their goal should be to do work that will best utilize their own particular skills and aptitudes.

"Too often," he said, "young people accept the first job that is offered to them and stop moving toward this goal that will tax their abilities."

FURTHER EDUCATION

Mr. Williston said "one of the few constructive things" that came out of the Second World War was the opportunity for many ex-servicemen to gain further education.

He also urged graduates to strive for a high standard of physical fitness throughout their working life. If this cannot be done through recreation a planned program of physical exercises should be followed, the minister said.

FORMER PRINCIPAL

The largest graduating class —418 members—was at Victoria High School. They heard an address by H. L. Smith, who for 21 years was principal of the school.

Dr. Harold Campbell, former deputy minister of education, spoke to 256 graduates at Oak Bay High School. Gordon Thompson, a former teacher at Mount View High School, addressed 149 graduates at that school.

ENGLISH PROFESSOR

Guest speaker to 145 graduates at Esquimalt High School was Dr. Chester Lambertson of the English department of Victoria University.

Graduation dances were held at all five schools following the formal ceremonies. Dancing was scheduled to end at midnight, but for some graduates private house parties were to follow. One group from Mount View High School, hired a hall for their own party and planned breakfast at the Malahat Chalet at 7 a.m.

Guest speaker at graduation ceremonies at Mount Douglas High School last night was Lands and Forests Minister Ray Williston, shown chatting with class valedictorian Russell Moore and Janice Janes. Two of Mr. Williston's own children graduated from this school in recent years.—(Colonist photos.)

Valedictorian for class of '62 at Oak Bay High School, Douglas Okerstrom has buttonhole flower pinned in place by Carol Brown, also a graduate. School has total of 256 graduates, second highest.

Officials Seek Limits

Hospital Controls Needed

EDMONTON (CP) — Government control of hospital and medical care finances is inevitable and necessary, speakers at closing sessions of the Canadian Hospital Association convention said Friday. But they asked that control be limited.

S. W. Martin of Toronto, executive secretary - treasurer of the Ontario Hospital Association, said provincial governments operating prepaid hospital insurance plans often impose petty budget controls on hospitals.

UNIVERSAL

Dr. W. Grant McPhail of Edmonton, director of medical services for Medical Services (Alberta) Incorporated, said there should be universal prepaid medical coverage. He said coverage should be voluntary and acceptable to doctors and patients.

A complaint that government budgetary controls are too rigid to allow hospitals to develop superior care facilities was raised by Dr. L. C. Griadale of Edmonton, a member of the council of the Alberta College of Physicians and Surgeons.

INCREASING

Gordon R. Cumming of Berkeley, Calif., head of the bureau of hospitals of the California state department of public health, said increasing demands of the public for vast and complex health services can only be met by a measure of government control.

Dr. Griadale said he doubts political parties in Canada that promise medical care schemes reflect as much public opinion as they claim.

Legion Approves Badge, Insignia

HALIFAX (CP) — More than 1,000 Royal Canadian Legion members, most of whom sailed to war from this old navy city, Friday ended their 19th biennial convention here.

The week-long convention approved two contentious resolutions which received less opposition than expected.

The Dominion command was authorized to organize a publicity campaign directed at government recognition of the Red Ensign as the Canadian flag. The move finally eliminated any question of official Legion support of the Union Jack as official flag.

Delegates also formally approved the legion's new badge and other insignia, introduced two years ago, which bears a Latin motto and replaces a maple leaf superimposed on the Union Jack with a maple leaf on a plain field. The word "Legion" replaces the words "Canadian Legion" on the insignia.

The old insignia may be freely worn.

Delegates passed a number of other resolutions, mostly dealing with veterans' legislation.

Judge C. C. Sparling of Winnipeg was elected Dominion president, succeeding Mr. Justice Mervyn Woods of Regina.

Crofton Ashes Placed In Columbarium Here

The ashes of Hon. Arthur Marcus Lowther Crofton, who died last month in St. Joseph's Hospital, have been placed in Christ Church Cathedral columbarium.

He was 63.

Veterans' Hospital padre Douglas Kendall conducted the service.

Major Crofton was born in Ireland, the yotngor son of the late Lord Crofton of Monte Park. He was educated at Cheam, Wellington and Sandhurst, and served in the Irish Guards in both world wars.

Following the Second World War, he came to Canada and settled in Victoria, where he lived until the beginning of this year.

He was predeceased in 1960 by his only son, Marcus, an RN midshipman. He is survived by his widow, Madeleine Barbara; a sister, Hon. Lady Hughes-Onslow in Scotland, and a stepson, Lt.-Cmdr. D. H. Pratt, RCN, Dartmouth, N.S.

Canada's Appeal Lost?

Few Come Any More!

No Longer Model –Pearson

HALIFAX (CP) — Relatively few people now want to come to Canada and almost as many are leaving, Liberal Leader Pearson told a rally here Friday night.

Last year, there was virtually no immigration into Canada, and "we are no longer the country that people look to as a model of progress," he said.

MORE PROGRESS

Other countries, and in particular Western Europe, are making far more progress while Canadian productivity has fallen since 1956, and "hundreds of thousands of Canadian families have been experiencing the bitterness, the hopelessness of massive, prolonged unemployment."

Mr. Pearson spoke in the 1,980-seat Capital Theatre. His remarks were contained in excerpts from his address issued to the press before delivery.

THEATRE FILLED

The theatre was filled for the speech and theatre officials said about 200 persons were turned away. They said the crowd was slightly larger than the audience that heard Prime Minister Diefenbaker in the same theatre two weeks ago.

Fisherman Alfred Murphy of the tiny Halifax county fishing village of Murphy's Cove ran to the stage and presented a box to Mr. Pearson, who opened it immediately and withdrew a live lobster which he held aloft.

COMPLETELY FALSE

Mr. Pearson labelled "completely and 100 per-cent false" statements attributed to Trade Minister Hees that the Liberals had organized disturbances at Vancouver and the Sudbury area meetings addressed by the prime minister.

He said an allegation by Mr. Hees in a speech Thursday at Milford, N.S., that the Liberals were peddling lies was language more characteristic of a Tammany Hall politican than of a Canadian cabinet minister.

DON'T OBSTRUCT

Liberals don't go around obstructing free speech, Mr. Pearson said, but when a boxer was getting behind on points, he started to swing wildly, hoping for a knockout.

He said each region of Canada has its own peculiar problems and each requires a special solution. A Liberal government would build the right kind of regional machinery for that job. He repeated that Canada should unilaterally extend the three-mile fishing limit to 12 miles if it can't achieve international agreement to do so.

Family received free ferry trip, dinner on board, tour of Butchart's Gardens and dinner last night. One-millionth eastbound passenger was similarly feted Thursday.

Says Bennett

Profit's The Thing

WINNIPEG (CP) — Premier W. A. C. Bennett of British Columbia said Friday that a federal Social Credit government would run Crown corporations on a pay-as-you-go and profit-making basis.

(In its account of a speech by Mr. Bennett at Truro, N.S., Wednesday, The Canadian Press erroneously reported him as saying government-owned corporations should be given back to private control.)

BALANCED BUDGET

There is room for Crown corporations, Mr. Bennett said in a telephone interview with CP Friday. However, they should be run on a balanced-budget basis.

If, in the case of such corporations as the Canadian National Railways and the Canadian Broadcasting Corporation, subsidies were required, necessary funds should be included in the federal budget and voted each year.

In the case of such firms, some capital costs should be written off as they were in the case of the Pacific Great Eastern Railway taken over by the Social Credit government of British Columbia. However, after that they should be run on a business basis.

Killer of 10 Sent to Jail

ANSBACH, West Germany (Reuters) — A former Gestapo lieutenant, who admitted he machine-gunned nine or 10 Poles in a prison after the occupation of Poland, was jailed for 15 months Friday for aiding in manslaughter. Eleven months he spent in pre-trial detention will be deducted from the sentence of Leo Patina, 50.

Tory Advocates Pegging at 90

VANCOUVER (CP)—Federal Agriculture Minister Alvin Hamilton said Friday he favors a further devaluation of the Canadian dollar to 90 cents.

Mr. Hamilton told a press conference that the present level of 92½ cents is in effect a compromise among Conservative government members. He said that some had been in favor of devaluation of the dollar to 95 cents while others supported his view to reduce it to 90 cents in terms of American funds.

The 90-cent level, he said, is a "natural peg which is defensible with our negative trade balance."

Asked about recent hikes in bread and gasoline prices, he said:

"There is no valid excuse for any product produced in Canada to go up in price."

He predicted that if one company refused to increase its prices then others would be forced by competition to reduce their prices.

NO PRICE CONTROLS

The Agriculture Minister said a Conservative government will not resort to price controls, except in emergencies, such as war, adding:

"We have the power to stop price increases by other means."

Slayer Draws Five Years

MONTREAL (CP) — Gerard Lanctot, 35, Friday was sentenced to five years in penitentiary on a reduced charge of manslaughter for the knife-slaying of his landlord, Romeo Vincent, 48. Lanctot was charged with the murder of Vincent who was stabbed in the neck with a kitchen knife Nov. 21 after an argument.

Economy To Soar Says Hees

OTTAWA (CP) — Economic expansion in Canada will be "even more spectacular" this year than last, Trade Minister Hees said Friday night.

"There is no question about it that our economy is booming," he said in a CBC television free-time political broadcast.

"I am forecasting at least another increase in trade of 10 per cent and that by the end of the year you will be employing in Canada about 250,000 more people than were employed at the beginning of the year."

Fix It, Said the Lady Rats! Said Mechanic

"There's a new squeak in the car," said a lady customer to Mel Dennstedt when she pulled in at Gordon Head Shell service station yesterday. "Fix it, will you?"

"Sounds to me like a gas-pedal squeak," said mechanic Dennstedt as he went to work.

"But my foot isn't on the gas pedal," said the lady.

Mr. Dennstedt looked more closely.

Curled around the gas pedal, on the floor of the car, were five baby mice.

A further examination disclosed a tiny mouse nest tucked away in the heating system of the car. No mother mouse showed up.

"It is a problem," said Mr. Dennstedt as he tried to convince the lady the car was safe to get into. "Mice are always building nests in the cars around here."

No Kidding!

Seeing is believing for radiant housewife Mrs. George Holland, 750 Canterbury, who thought "Mayor Harris" (Ed MacFayden) was "kidding" when he told her yesterday centennial buck she holds was worth $500. Hard-to-convince Mrs. Holland, whose lucky bill was numbered 7704, is first winner in five weeks of daily phoning. Lucky bill prize reverts to $100, increasing by $100 each week.—(Ryan Bros. photo.)

One Bus Missing

Loggers Reject Hillcrest Solution

By KLAUS MUENTER

DUNCAN—Another attempt to solve the long free bus dispute at the Hillcrest Logging Co. operation at Mesachie Lake failed last night.

Affected members of the IWA's big Duncan-Nanaimo local last night voted 61 to 11 to reject a second proposal made by deputy labor minister William Sands.

Like his earlier plan, it included restoration of the bus from Duncan to Mesachie Lake for about 45 of the 70 loggers idle since Jan. 2 when Hillcrest withdrew free buses.

DROP CHARGES

It also included a Hillcrest pledge to drop all charges against the local and president Weldon Jubenville.

Mr. Jubenville said after the vote the proposal was "completely acceptable" except that it did not reinstate free transportation for about 20 Lake Cowichan loggers.

VOTING TIMES

Meanwhile mid-Island IWA members have been advised of voting places on the contract recommended by UBC Dean Neil Perry. They are:

Nanaimo CCF Hall, 2 p.m. today; Ladysmith Native Sons Hall, 3.15 p.m. Sunday; Chemainus Community Hall, 1.30 Sunday; Honeymoon Bay Community Hall, 2 p.m. Sunday and Parksville Lantzville Community Hall, 8 p.m. Wednesday.

DOWNWARD TREND

IWA members in the Duncan and Lake Cowichan areas voted yesterday.

The bus dispute has contributed considerably to the downward trend of business here, says the monthly report of the local Unemployment Insurance Commission.

BELOW AVERAGE

Manager R. S. Robinson said cold, wet weather also is responsible for below-average sales of spring and summer merchandise.

The number of unplaced job seekers in May increased to 492 men and 245 women from 376 men and 214 women a month ago. In May last year, the totals were 544 men and 175 women.

Guns Stop Radio

CP from AP-Reuters

ALGIERS — The terrorist Secret Army widened its scorched earth campaign in Algeria Friday and launched a swift bazooka attack on a radio station that carried an optimistic speech by President de Gaulle from Paris.

The hit-and-run attack left the fifth-floor studios of Radio Algiers heavily damaged just after de Gaulle had hailed a new Algeria and predicted that in 23 days its people will have instituted their independence through a self-determination referendum

'CRIMINAL MADMEN'

The Secret Army terrorists who seek to block independence are "criminal madmen," de Gaulle said.

"In 23 days, the Algerian problem in its substance will be resolved for France," de Gaulle said. "Algeria will determine its own future. Algeria and France will be able to cooperate organically and regularly with each other."

WAS READING NEWS

The Secret Army attack came as an announcer was reading an evening news summary.

Listeners heard screams and what sounded like gunfire. Some one in the studio shouted "No, no," and the station went off the air. It was back on in two minutes with recorded classical music.

Police said later at least one person in the studio was wounded.

WRECK ANYTHING

Throughout the day the Secret Army set off hundreds of pounds of explosives in carrying out their campaign to destroy anything that could benefit the Moslems after independence.

European leaders resumed talks Friday with Moslem leaders at the administrative centre of Rocher Noir, outside Algiers. The talks resumed after a two-day break.

West Coast 'Treasure'

Death Trap Yields Rich Haul

A treasure trove of fish and game, Indian artifacts, ancient relics and scenic beauty has been uncovered by two Sooke hikers who trekked some 60 miles over an "impassable" trail to Bamfield.

But bricklayer Harold George Witham, 45, Church Road, and Sooke and Island Tug mate Jerry Filippo, 24, West Coast Road, warned off those who would follow their lead.

DEATH TRAP

The first 15 miles of the trail they followed from Port Renfrew to Bamfield, said Mr. Witham, is a death trap.

And nature has reclaimed much of the rest of the trail hacked out of the Wilderness by telephone and department of transport line crews years ago.

IT'S A LIFELINE

"It's too bad the trail is not in better shape—the people of Bamfield say it is a lifeline in case of a ship being wrecked along the coastline," said Mr. Witham.

And hunters, hikers and fishermen would find it a royal road to the teeming game and fish abounding in the area.

BIG FAT BUCKS

"We spotted deer—big fat buck—and cougar, picked up elk sign and at least one river is teeming with steelhead."

The veteran hikers found the Bamfield trail from Port Renfrew a real challenge. "Some portions were overgrown to a depth of 10 feet.

LOST THE TRAIL

"We spent an hour covering 100 yards once when we lost the trail," said Mr. Witham.

Various proposals in the past to build a road linking Port Renfrew with Bamfield seemed slightly star-struck to both.

"It would cost a fortune. In the first 15 miles alone they would need about seven bridges over deep gorges," said Mr. Witham.

Road Workers' Nightmare Sequel to Baffling Eruption

TERRACE (CP)—Government investigators were flown in Friday to view a mysterious underground upheaval which swept a provincial government campsite into a lake, toppled trees and power poles and severed two highways near this north - central British Columbia community.

★ ★ ★

Workmen started hacking through the bush 100 feet from the slide to build a detour road.

The 4,000-foot detour will be open to traffic within a week, again linking the coastal aluminum smelting community of Kitimat with civilization by road. Kitimat is 40 miles north.

★ ★ ★

Highways department officials said it may be necessary to build a third new road to bypass the section.

District Superintendent Carl Shaw said the area is a highway worker's nightmare.

He said the workers have drilled 50 feet down and still have not reached the bottom of the blue clay.

★ ★ ★

He said one tractor operator, who had been in two slides, quit.

"The poor guy said he'd had it. He said he watched his tractor slowly revolve two or three times then disappear into the mud with a sucking sound. It was enough for him."

Filthy Baby Farm Found in Toronto

TORONTO (CP)—Welfare officials are looking for parents whose children — left for the day at a neat, clean home in the suburbs—later turned up in a "terribly filthy place."

Police and public health officials received reports that someone was operating a "baby farm" at a downtown address, and Miss Florence Schill of the Children's Aid Society said the Scarborough home was apparently a "front."

Officials said Friday the parents, who apparently thought their children were being cared for at a modern bungalow in suburban Scarborough, may have to prove they are fit to care for them before they get them back.

TODDLERS FOUND

Police said a total of 23 toddlers, ranging in age from three months to two years, were found Thursday at a large, dingy, downtown house. Many of them had been taken there from the Scarborough home.

When police raided the downtown premises a cab containing seven children was driven away — presumably to deliver the youngsters back to their parents.

FOUND IN CAR

Sixteen children were found in a car outside the home. Eight were turned over to the Roman Catholic Children's Aid Society and one other—originally turned over to the Catholic group—was returned to its mother.

John Melechereik, director of family services for the Catholic society, said he had heard from "two or three" other parents, but said the babies would be returned only in cases where parents can show they are able to provide for them.

KEEP CHILDREN

The metro group announced it will keep the seven children it has until juvenile court rules on their fate—likely early next week.

Mr. Melichereik said the woman who regained her child was a working mother who was upset to learn of conditions in the place where her child was found.

PARENTS UNAWARE

He said it appeared from telephone interviews with parents that they were not aware that their children were being taken to the downtown premises.

One children's aid worker described the large house as "a terribly filthy place" where several large cats roamed and where the children were kept in smelly, dirty cribs.

CLOTHES IN RAGS

Insp. Walter Johnston said the children's good clothing was taken off when they left the Scarborough home and they were then clothed in rags.

"When they were returned to their parents, they were washed and dressed in their own clothes."

HONG KONG (Reuters)—Peking radio has blamed drought and frost for poor crops in some parts of China this year. It said in a broadcast that drought and frost damaged wheat fields in Shensi province and delayed the sweet potato growth in Szechuan province.

Smoke Action Drags

By TED SHACKLEFORD

Lumber mills and industries which have been given 11 months to meet the conditions of the city smoke bylaw will be given more latitude before prosecution begins.

Plants found breaking the bylaw by giving out too much fly ash will be warned and given time to instal equipment to reduce it before another check.

Where too much smoke is produced, three warnings will be issued before the owner is given notice of a prosecution.

BEGIN MONDAY

A team of three men will begin checking plants for excess smoke Monday.

Stack samplers—machines installed in smokestacks to measure the amount of fly ash and other solids emitted—will be rented on a cost basis from Vancouver city.

The above points emerged yesterday in a report by William Jorgenson, new head of the city's planning and inspection division.

FLY ASH SECOND

It was released by Ald. Geoffrey Edgelow, chairman of the city's smoke advisory board.

The fly ash problem, subject of long and bitter complaints from many residents and motel operators in the north end of the city, will be tackled second.

Four steps will be taken on smoke violations:

SEEK SOURCE

First violation—smoke inspector will go directly to the operator of the plant, seek the source of the trouble and recommend now it can be overcome.

Second violation — a notice will be sent to the owner of the plant, reporting the offence.

Third violation — a second notice will be sent to the owner.

BROUGHT TO COURT

Fourth violation—the owner will be warned by registered mail that evidence has been collected and the matter will be brought to court.

Mr. Jorgenson's report said that once smoke samplers are installed and a fly ash violation found, the operators of the plant will be advised and given the necessary time to instal corrective equipment.

UNTIL EQUIPMENT

No further checks of that smokestack will be made until the equipment is in.

There is no way to operate the stack samplers without the plant operators knowing they are being checked.

Vancouver's smoke inspector Joseph Satterthwaite has not yet been asked if stack samplers can be rented.

BASED ON BYLAW

Mr. Jorgenson said the procedure planned here is based on the procedure in Vancouver. Victoria's smoke bylaw was based on the Vancouver bylaw.

The report asks for direction on when the samplers should be obtained.

Mr. Jorgenson said the bylaw makes provision for civil action which could be launched by a private householder or businessman.

"Under this clause the policy

Fresh, Brief Boost

Dying Art of the Whistle Stop Revived by Happy Diefenbaker

MONCTON, N.B. (CP) — The dying art of whistle-stop electioneering got a fresh but brief boost from Prime Minister Diefenbaker Friday.

He roared across the rolling Quebec and New Brunswick countryside by train—hopping out of his special car for some fast electioneering on station platforms.

It was a 490-mile, five - stop trip at the tail-end of the CNR's Ocean Limited from Levis, Que., to Moncton where he opened a $1,500,000 extension to the local post office and was to address a night rally.

Two thousand school children jammed the platform at Campbellton, N.B. Mr. Diefenbaker was presented a crate of fresh salmon by eight-year-old Terry Raymond, who delivered a speech he wrote himself in French and English.

"Now if he'll just throw it to me," said Mr. Diefenbaker "I'd be able to say I caught my first salmon."

There were small but friendly crowds at Bathurst, Newcastle and Harcourt as the prime minister travelled through four New Brunswick ridings, three of them held by Conservatives in the last Parliament.

Mrs. Diefenbaker left the campaign coach at Newcastle to fly to Prince Edward Island for a quick afternoon tour. She was to rejoin her husband Friday night.

SHOOK HANDS

Under brilliant sunshine, the prime minister shook scores of hands, made brief speeches with the barest mentions of the June 18 election, and apparently enjoyed himself.

After snipping a white ribbon to open the new federal building here, Mr. Diefenbaker strolled back to the Brunswick Hotel.

At the door, he was stopped by Mrs. G. H. Craig who sold him a red rose on behalf of the Imperial Order Daughters of the Empire.

Mr. Diefenbaker had no change with him—so an aide put up the money.

Wall Mirror Sets Mystery Fire

TOWSON, Md. (AP)—Mirror, mirror, tell me true: Who set the fire—was it you?

Towson firemen are asking that question after a fire mysteriously broke out in the home of Mr. and Mrs. Fred Stiever Thursday.

The only possible cause, the firemen decided, was that the sun's rays struck the mirror and were reflected onto a bed. They said no one had been in the suburban Baltimore home for eight hours before the short-lived blaze.

'I May Be Shot' Dog-Tag Warns

MEDIA, Pa. (AP) — The community of Rutledge has come up with a version of the talking dog.

In an effort to solve one of the Delaware County Borough's most vexing problems—dogs running loose, a cardboard tag will be attached to the collars of stray dogs. On one side will be the word, "warning." On the other:

"I have been violating the law. Ordinance 248, Rutledge Borough, states that no dogs are permitted to run at large.

"I am subject to being shot. You are subject to being fined from $5 to $50.

"Please watch over me more carefully. We may not be so lucky the next time.

"Let's help to be good neighbors and keep Rutledge a nice place to live. Thank you for your co - operation."

A Sad but Charming Drama

Tiny Heroine Flees False Honor

LONDON (AP)—Police and parents Friday pieced together the sad but charming drama of a 10-year-old girl, hailed for six months as a local heroine.

Since last January, just about everyone in nearby Richmond believed Tina Stapley had rescued her schoolmate, Paula Thomas, from drowning in the River Thames.

Thursday was to be Tina's big day.

Officials of the Royal Humane Society were to present her their coveted award for bravery. The 240 pupils of Orchard County primary school were ready to applaud.

But, six hours beforehand, Tina disappeared.

Paula vanished, too.

On her dressing table, Tina's mother found a note:

"Dearest mummy — I have to run away. I didn't rescue Paula. We were just playing."

Meanwhile police picked up Tina and Paula, wandering hand - in - hand down a side street.

They broke into tears and confessed everything.

Paula had slipped into the river near their home. But the water was only knee deep.

Watching Paula splash around, Tina jumped in beside her.

They began splashing water on one another and, soaked, they got out.

A passerby saw them. He called a constable. The constable summoned an ambulance.

"Then things got out of hand," explained Paula's mother. "Their imaginations went to work—and pretty soon Tina was a heroine."

Mrs. Thomas added:

"My daughter wants to be a writer. Tina wants to be an actress. I suppose the rescue was a natural collaboration."

Ceremony Set Today

National Historic Site

Fort Rodd's New Glory to Mark Opening

Fort Rodd Hill will regain some of its former glory today when it is officially opened to the public as a national historic site.

A platform has been erected on the greensward in front of the old gun emplacements, with bunting to add a touch of color. The band of the 5th (B.C.) Med. Ind. Bty., RCA, the militia unit which manned the battery in wartime, will provide music.

There'll be speeches by George Chatterton, who, as Progressive Conservative MP in the last parliament was instrumental in getting the fort preserved, and by Lt.-Col. Aubrey Kent, chairman of the Fort Rodd Hill development committee.

The public is invited to attend brief ceremonies starting at 10 a.m. which mark the official opening of the 44-acre site which includes historic Fisgard Light, one of the oldest aids to navigation on the Pacific Coast.

After the ceremony, guests will be taken on a guided tour of the fort by William Walker, who as a young gunner 40 years ago fired the original six-inch guns.

Mr. Walker recalls: "These were the original six-inch disappearing-type guns installed by the British in the period 1890 to 1900, when there was a chance of war with Russia.

"There was no recoil mechanism on the guns. They were lifted into firing position by a big arm attached to a cylinder that took 1,250 pounds of pressure. At the start of any shoot it took eight men on a double-action pump to pump that amount of pressure into the cylinder.

"The concussion blew the gun back on the stocks and the ram recharged the cylinder for the next firing.

Mr. Walker, who will be 70 this summer, served with the Imperial Forces in France during the First World War and was commissioned in the field. He came to Canada after the armistice and joined the 5th Heavy Battery, RCGA, 1921.

As a member of the permanent force he spent many summers between the wars carrying out summer training at Fort Rodd Hill. During the Second World War he was garrison sergeant-major.

When he joined the corps of commissionaires five years ago, he was assigned to the old fort and found it had fallen into disrepair.

In recent weeks much of the weatherbeaten look has disappeared. Workmen have cut away the scrub bush, trimmed the grass, applied paint to gates and railings, and generally cleaned up in preparation for the first influx of visitors.

"It's wonderful what they have done in a short time," said Mr. Walker.

He added, "Of course, it doesn't look quite as it did in the best days, but it certainly is an improvement." Mr. Walker is willing to make special appointments to guide visitors who call him at EV 3-3308.

The fort will be open to the public from 9 a.m. to one hour before sunset seven days a week.

First Duty-Free Store Brings Reaction Chorus

By TED PULFORD

The duty-free shop—which allows visitors to the country to purchase articles at huge discounts—is based upon an idea which will intrigue you, anger you or bore you depending upon what rung of the economic ladder you happen to be occupying at the time.

News that construction of western Canada's first duty-free store has begun in the Sidney area brought a chorus of reaction here ranging all the way from outrage, through approval to complete unconcern.

Mail Order

Operating something like a long-distance mail order firm, the duty-free shop will cater strictly to visitors from out side the country. By operating in conjunction with a bonded warehouse and not shipping the goods until the purchaser returns home, it can operate at a whopping discount.

Working in this way allows the duty-free shop to circumvent import duties imposed by the federal government on most consumer goods brought into this country from abroad.

Cool on Idea

Most Victoria merchants are cool on the idea of an operation of this sort being set up on the Island—and they particularly don't want a similar one here in the city.

Those most opposed to the idea are those now retailing imported merchandise upon which buyers must pay stiff duty charges.

One-Third Less

British woollens, imported watches and German optical instruments and cameras, for instance, can be sold by the duty-free shops at about one-third less than the price posted by an ordinary retail outlet.

Alec Straith of George Straith Ltd.—a firm specializing in high-quality clothing imports—doesn't like the principle which permits duty-free shops to operate but admits nobody in his firm is losing sleep over the prospect.

"These people don't pay duty and they constitute unfair competition. I can't see why the government allows them."

Despite the healthy savings available to budget-conscious visitors at the duty-free stores, Mr. Straith points out that many of the services offered as part of the bargain by a retailer, aren't included by the duty-free shops.

"People like to be properly fitted and they like to see a wide range of goods when they buy," he said. "I suppose it's all right if you're satisfied with buying out of a catalogue."

Ray Rose, proprietor of Rose's Jewellers, doesn't seem to think the duty-free shops constitute a problem.

He agrees the price of a watch can be slashed when duty isn't added on, but says very few American visitors buy watches when they come here anyway.

Bring Watches

"Usually, they bring their watches and cameras with them."

What does annoy the jeweller is the report the store is opening its doors at Sidney, not far from the ferry terminal.

"If we have to have these things, let's at least have them in Victoria."

Placing Shop

Decision to place the shop in Sidney was reached by the company after careful consideration of traffic flow to and from the Island.

Patrons of such an establishment are considered most likely to buy on their way home, and the new store will be available to people heading for the airport or ferry terminals.

Hotel men, restaurant owners and tourist promoters are generally warm to the idea.

Another Facet

They see duty-free shops as just another facet of a booming tourist economy and one more way of stimulating the flow of foreign dollars into the area.

Shoppers who visit a duty-free store for the first time will be in for a unique retailing experience. At no time do they actually see the item they are buying — although samples are often available.

Pays in Cash

The customer pays for his purchase in cash, then receives a receipt which he presents to the customs officials at the border of his own country when he returns home.

The receipt is then mailed back to the shop and the purchase is delivered—in bond—to the customer's address.

Only for Visitors Locals Must Pass

Hot-Rodders Irk Shelbourne Folk

Some 130 residents of Shelbourne Street have petitioned city police to use radar to catch hot-rodding youths who use part of the street as a dragstrip.

Les Gray, 2845 Shelbourne, Claude Hunt, 2833 Shelbourne, and Bruce Reynolds, 2836 Shelbourne, collected 129 signatures from residents living on Shelbourne between Hillside and Haultain.

FEW REFUSALS

"We only got three refusals from residents," Mr. Gray said last night.

"People have been congratulating us, thanking us for letting them put their names on the petition."

Mr. Hunt said the petition was circulated in an attempt to stop hot-rodders speeding along the straight, smooth road.

'FINISH' LINE

A red line, with the word "finish" was recently painted across Shelbourne at Ryan Street.

At least one resident has moved from Shelbourne because of cars racing along the road, he said.

Islands May Secede

PORT WASHINGTON — Division of the Gulf Islands by two separate ferry systems next year may see Saturna and North and South Pender Islands secede from the Gulf Islands school and hospital districts.

Some Pender Island Chamber of Commerce officials believe the present unity cannot continue in the Islands if the government proceeds with a ferry project outlined at a meeting here by Recreation Minister Westwood.

PROPOSED ROUTE

Mr. Westwood told the chamber a new Gulf Islands ferry would be in service next summer and its proposed route is from Long Harbour on Salt Spring Island to Mayne, Galiano and Tsawwassen. A separate service, he said, would link Saturna and North and South Pender with Swartz Bay.

Members of the chamber expressed concern over division of the Islands by the two routes and said the new ferry should serve all the Islands in order to justify its name of "Gulf Islands Ferry Service."

Advance Poll Opens Today

Voters who will be unable to cast their ballots in the federal election June 18 may take advantage of an advance poll in either Victoria or Esquimalt-Saanich today and Monday.

Anyone who wishes to vote at one of the 12 advance polling stations in the area must first sign a sworn declaration they will be absent election day.

Chalet Wishing Well

Has Frogman Robbed Sick?

"The meanest thief in Canada" has robbed the Wishing Well at Malahat Chalet of $250 in coins intended for the Multiple Sclerosis Society.

A limber and hard-working bandit—possibly clad in a frogman suit—has dunked himself seven times in the four-foot-deep well since August, 1961.

The most recent theft, Thursday night, yielded him a total of $40 in rusty nickels, pennies, dimes and quarters.

LITTLE MEANER

"I can't think of anything meaner than that—aside from robbing the church box," said Chalet proprietor William Doersam.

"If they had the guts to break into the place and give us a chance to catch them it would be all right, but they're just sneaks in the night.

HAVE TO SLEEP

"We've sat up night after night trying to catch them, but we have to sleep sometimes.

"They've got by us each time. Usually it's on a Tuesday. This time it was Thursday.

"It's four feet deep and three feet wide. The only way would be to get right in the well in a wet suit or a snorkel helmet. It would be about a half-hour chore."

BAD TROUBLE

Mr. Doersam said he would like to hear from anyone who had seen suspicious people approaching the Chalet at night.

"If I catch them, somebody's going to get in bad trouble," he said.

Third Concert Slated Sunday

The band and choir of Oak Bay High School will give the third of four weekly concerts in Beacon Hill Park this Sunday at 3.30 p.m. The band is conducted by E. A. Eames, and the school choir performs under direction of L. S. Henderson.

One Bus Missing

Loggers Reject Hillcrest Solution

By KLAUS MUENTER

DUNCAN—Another attempt to solve the long free bus dispute at the Hillcrest Logging Co. operation at Mesachie Lake failed last night.

Affected members of the IWA's big Duncan-Nanaimo local last night voted 61 to 11 to reject a second proposal made by deputy labor minister William Sands.

Other news, Page 29

Like his earlier plan, it included restoration of the bus from Duncan to Mesachie Lake for about 45 of the 70 loggers idle since Jan. 2 when Hillcrest withdrew free buses.

DROP CHARGES

It also included a Hillcrest pledge to drop all charges against the local and president Weldon Jubenville.

Mr. Jubenville said after the vote the proposal was "completely acceptable" except that it did not reinstate free transportation for about 20 Lake Cowichan loggers.

VOTING TIMES

Meanwhile mid-Island IWA members have been advised of voting places on the contract recommended by UBC Dean Neil Perry. They are:

Nanaimo CCF Hall, 2 p.m. today; Ladysmith Native Sons Hall, 3.15 p.m. Sunday; Chemainus Community Hall, 1.30 Sunday; Honeymoon Bay Community Hall, 2 p.m. Sunday and Parksville Lantzville Community Hall, 8 p.m. Wednesday.

DOWNWARD TREND

IWA members in the Duncan and Lake Cowichan areas voted yesterday.

The bus dispute has contributed considerably, to the downward trend of business here, says the monthly report of the local Unemployment Insurance Commission.

BELOW AVERAGE

Manager R. S. Robinson said cold, wet weather also is responsible for below-average sales of spring and summer merchandise.

The number of unplaced job seekers in May increased to 492 men and 243 women from 376 men and 214 women a month ago. In May last year, the totals were 544 men and 175 women.

Dud Cheque Passing Draws Jail

James Kenneth McNeil, 18, no fixed address, was sentenced in Oak Bay court yesterday to nine months definite and three months indefinite imprisonment for passing a forged cheque.

He pleaded guilty to trying to pass a forged cheque for $60 in the name of Charles De Lure, made out to "J. P. Thomas," at Oak Bay branch of the Canadian Bank of Commerce.

A bank official, telephoning another branch of the bank, learned this account had already been the victim of a forgery. McNeil was held for police.

He has also pleaded guilty to two similar charges in city police court on which he is to be sentenced today.

New Occupation Centre

Don't Attach Stigma to Retarded

A group of 25 parents, who for seven years have engaged in an unremitting battle against the ignorance and apathy surrounding mentally-retarded children, saw a dream come true yesterday.

The Greater Victoria Association for the Retarded officially opened the door of its new occupation centre at 1450 Elford.

A brief ceremony, presided over by former World Health Organization director Dr. Brock Chisholm, marked an important victory for the little group which seven years ago banded together to fight the stigma which attaches to mental retardation.

Association president Laurence Cottrell, in an interview following the brief ceremony, told of some of the problems which beset the group after a plan for the centre had been conceived.

"It has been a continual struggle to make people accept the problem of retardation in the community; then to urge them to do something about it."

Dr. Chisholm agreed. "People all over the world have always attached some sort of stigma to the birth of a retarded child in the family," he said.

"They seem to think that the arrival of a retarded child represents divine retribution for something the family has done."

Purpose of the centre, a converted seven-room house, will be twofold. Special training will be aimed at making the youngsters productive at some craft, while at the same time a concerted attempt will be made to keep the children happy with their environment.

Besides volunteer helpers, the centre will be staffed by a crafts teacher and full-time director.

Since the Victoria school board accepted responsibility for retarded children of school age, the society will focus its efforts on pre-school and post-school youngsters.

In his address, Dr. Chisholm paid tribute to the parents who had organized the centre.

Peter Bruton's NOTEBOOK

WAY DOWN YONDER: We telephoned Premier Bennett in Winnipeg yesterday.

"How's the Social Credit campaign going?" we asked.

"It's amazing, my friend," chortled the premier.

"Things good in Quebec?"

"I'm amazed," said the premier. "Not just in Quebec but in the Maritimes . . . I came from there y'know . . . and in eastern Ontario. All the French newspapers have been devoting pages to us . . . and now the English papers . . . full, whole pages. It's amazing."

He paused, then continued ominously.

"We've hit the other parties with a mighty blow, my friend," he confided. "Now the attacks will start . . ."

"And what have you got in store for us for your big Victoria meeting next week?" we asked.

"I'll have a story to tell," he said. "It's amazing . . . absolutely amazing."

You can bet on that!

NOR THE YEARS CONDEMN: Reporter Ian Street was covering the Victoria pioneers' garden party the other day when an elderly gentleman approached him.

"What was the name?" said the senior citizen.

"Street," replied Ian.

"And what paper?"

"The Colonist."

"Oh, yes," replied the pioneer. "I knew one of your boys once. He was a nice chap. Name of Amor De Cosmos!"

RETURN TO PARADISE: The other day we reprinted some of the views of Victoria contained in the bulletin of the recreation and conservation department's fish and game branch which recently moved here from Vancouver.

One comment slipped our attention.

"Sometimes in Victoria you feel yourself becoming wary or 'cagey' when in conversation with a stranger because they seem so helpful and so anxious to be of assistance you feel there must be a catch in it somewhere.

"It takes a little time to realize that, for the most part, this seems to be a trait of this city.

"Politeness reigns here, possibly because of the constraint enforced by the cramped downtown district, the care that must be taken driving or walking the narrow streets. We don't know but it's here. Even the children are very well behaved so far in our experience."

LA TRIVIATA: Fathers of three recent sets of twins in the city all had one thing in common — they were heard growers! Researchers could have a field day with that one. . . . Geoff Ellis says he hears tell of a small boy at a local stationery store peering over the counter and asking hopefully: "Have you any blank report cards?" . . . Harry Gregson now says his Victoria weekly newspaper, will have an independent editorial policy. . . . A spy notes that every time he sees one of those double-decker buses go by hardly anyone is sitting on the lower levels. Why not just have a tall bus?

THE THINGS WE HEAR: The police radio was alive with urgent activity at one stage yesterday.

The patrol car answered quickly.

"Car ——," came the station again. "Will you pick up some four-cent stamps?"

Defence Counsel Insists:

Nanaimo Needs Prosecutor

NANAIMO—The trial of Morton Darrel Thomson of Chemainus on a charge of impaired driving, already been remanded a number of times, was remanded again in police court Friday.

The adjournment to July 17 gave rise to some heated exchanges between Const. Healy, prosecuting for the Crown, and defence counsel T. Strongitharm.

Mr. Strongitharm said virtually the entire legal profession in Nanaimo believes a prosecutor should be appointed for the court to facilitate and expedite proceedings. He said that this was no reflection upon Const. Healy, for whom he had the highest regard.

COLLISION CAUSE

Horatio Enslow, 55, of Nanaimo, was sentenced to 30 days imprisonment for driving his car while prohibited.

A collision involving minor damage to Enslow's car and another car had occurred Wednesday, police said. Both cars drove away; Enslow, located some blocks away, admitted his licence was under suspension.

He was arrested, but permitted to return home because of a heart condition.

UNION MEETING

He told court he had not driven since the suspension until this occasion, when he drove downtown to bring his wife home from a union meeting.

Magistrate Lionel Beevor-Potts stated Enslow's action constituted contempt of court and he had no option in imposing a prison sentence. He assured Enslow his heart condition would be recognized by prison authorities.

PLEADED GUILTY

William John Boune, 17, of Alberni, appeared in open court after transfer from juvenile court, and pleaded guilty to car theft. He was sentenced to two years less a day at Haney.

Henry E. Martin, George W. Weston and Eric Crossin of Nanaimo and George F. Roberts of New Westminster all pleaded guilty to speeding and were assessed fines ranging from $11 to $25. John P. Crampton, Nanaimo, was assessed $17.50 on the same charge.

Political Roundup

Tories Cite Record, Quality and Sincerity

NANAIMO — The government seeks the voters' support on the basis of three things — sincerity of purpose, quality of its men and the strength of its record, Justice Minister Fulton has told a Conservative meeting in the Legion Hall.

ANNE CARDLYN CLARK

He said the Bill of Rights and Canada's stand on South Africa's position in the Commonwealth show Prime Minister Diefenbaker's concern over matters of principle.

The Liberals had shown by the organized attempt to prevent the prime minister from being heard in Vancouver their determination to destroy freedom of speech, he said. And they attacked the integrity of political institutions in the House of Commons when they were in power.

$250 Scholarship

Mac-Powell Picks Ladysmith Winner

LADYSMITH — Anne Carolyn Clark has won the annual $250 general program scholarship given by MacMillan, Bloedel and Powell River Ltd. to a senior Ladysmith High School student.

The award was presented yesterday at the high school by a representative of the firm's Chemainus division.

Anne received the top mark in her Grade 12 class — an average of better than 82 per cent.

She was editor of the high school annual and has been class representative to the student council and the junior Red Cross.

A member of the referees, timers and scorers club, Anne is the daughter of Mr. and Mrs. I. L. Clark of Ladysmith.

The award is one of seven $250 general program scholarships and nine $500 university entrance scholarships provided annually by the company in areas where it has forest industry operations. It also gives additional scholarships for advanced education.

COURTENAY — Sid Williams, who turned back the clock 100 years when he played Century Sam during the 1938 B.C. centenary, will be back in the 19th century soon when he leaves for Barkerville to play a part in that community's centennial celebrations.

He will play the part of Cousin Joe in Rough Diamonds, a melodrama which will be staged twice daily for two months at Barkerville starting June 28, as well as doing some of his own comedy routines.

Sid, an alderman here and president for 17 years of the Courtenay Recreational Association, an organization used as a model for other such B.C. groups, is a well-known local entertainer and actor and the area's Santa Claus.

Health Chief Leaving

NANAIMO — Two months after returning from a year's leave of absence, Dr. J. G. MacKenzie announced at the quarterly meeting of the central Island health unit Thursday his resignation will take effect April 1.

He is to serve on the UBC faculty as professor of traumatic medicine.

TO MISSION

Dr. W. C. Swan has resigned as assistant director here to become director of the unit at Mission. It may be impossible to replace him before Sept. 1.

Dr. L. Holland of Victoria will provide psychiatric services for the child guidance clinic in Nanaimo and it is expected he will be able to take two or three adult cases a month as well.

NOT REACHED

Meanwhile, Dr. MacKenzie says recent elaborate civil defence exercises here disclosed medical supplies supposed to be stockpiled at strategic points across Canada have not reached Nanaimo.

Although a 200-bed portable hospital and a 500-unit casualty clearing station can be set up in less than two hours, there is not even one bandaid on hand for the expected 150,000 casualties.

26 Families 'Forgotten'

LADYSMITH — A 26-family hospital-tax problem has arisen here.

When a new hospital improvement district was formed last May to assess taxpayers for a $100,000 Ladysmith hospital enlargement project, officials overlooked a small area near Cassidy between the Nanaimo and Ladysmith districts consisting of 26 families who are not included in either district.

Residents in the area will be asked if they are willing to join the Ladysmith district. Hospital administrator Ian Peddie says 16 families already have agreed to help pay for the larger hospital if a mid-July referendum is passed.

A plebiscite held in April to establish the district saw 265 persons vote in favor and 64 against.

The district is divided in four zones and each will be represented by one trustee except for the Ladysmith which will elect two trustees June 19, 20, 21 and 22. The trustees will work in conjunction with the Ladysmith hospital board.

ALBERNI—A plea of guilty was entered for the firm of Long Beach Transport Ltd. on a charge of operating an improperly equipped truck on the highway, but a member of the firm claimed extenuating circumstances when asking for leniency of the court.

Mrs. Claude Jordon described poor condition of the Tofino-Alberni road over which the firm's trucks are operated and, in addition, suggested that acts of sabotage had contributed to the troubles of the company.

Brothers Claude and William Jordon, with their wives, make up the firm which runs scheduled freight trips over the road to the west coast.

Half a dozen faults listed in the charge ranged from lack of tail-lights and speedometer to obscured licence plates.

A fine of $10 was imposed by the magistrate.

SMOKE ATTACK STARTS MONDAY

By TED SHACKLEFORD

Lumber mills and industries which have been given 11 months to meet the conditions of the city smoke bylaw will be given more latitude before prosecution begins.

Plants found breaking the bylaw by giving out too much fly ash will be warned and given time to instal equipment to reduce it before another check.

Where too much smoke is produced, three warnings will be issued before the owner is given notice of a prosecution.

BEGIN MONDAY

A team of three men will begin checking plants for excess smoke Monday.

Stack samplers—machines installed in smokestacks to measure the amount of fly ash and other solids emitted—will be rented on a cost basis from Vancouver city.

The above points emerged yesterday in a report by William Jorgenson, new head of the city's planning and inspection division.

FLY ASH SECOND

It was released by Ald. Geoffrey Edgelow, chairman of the city's smoke advisory board.

The fly ash problem, subject of long and bitter complaints from many residents and motel operators in the north end of the city, will be tackled second.

Four steps will be taken on smoke violations:

SEEK SOURCE

First violation—smoke inspector will go directly to the operator of the plant, seek the source of the trouble and recommend how it can be overcome.

Second violation — a notice will be sent to the owner of the plant, reporting the offence.

Third violation — a second notice will be sent to the owner.

BROUGHT TO COURT

Fourth violation—the owner will be warned by registered mail that evidence has been collected and the matter will be brought to court.

Mr. Jorgenson's report said that once smoke samplers are installed and a fly ash violation found, the operators of the plant will be advised and given the necessary time to instal corrective equipment.

UNTIL EQUIPMENT

No further checks of that smokestack will be made until the equipment is in.

There is no way to operate the stack samplers without the plant operators knowing they are being checked.

Vancouver's smoke inspector Joseph Satterthwaite has not yet been asked if stack samplers can be rented.

BASED ON BYLAW

Mr. Jorgenson said the procedure planned here is based on the procedure in Vancouver. Victoria's smoke bylaw was based on the Vancouver bylaw.

The report asks for direction on when the samplers should be obtained.

Mr. Jorgenson said the bylaw makes provision for civil action which could be launched by a private householder or businessman.

"Under this clause the policy

Guns Stop Radio

CP from AP-Reuters

ALGIERS — The terrorist Secret Army widened its scorched earth campaign in Algeria Friday and launched a swift bazooka attack on a radio station that carried an optimistic speech by President de Gaulle from Paris.

The hit-and-run attack left the fifth-floor studios of Radio Algiers heavily damaged just after de Gaulle had hailed a new Algeria and predicted that in 23 days its people will have instituted their independence through a self-determination referendum.

'CRIMINAL MADMEN'

The Secret Army terrorists who seek to block independence are "criminal madmen," de Gaulle said.

"In 23 days, the Algerian problem in its substance will be resolved for France," de Gaulle said. "Algeria will determine its own future. Algeria and France will be able to cooperate organically and regularly with each other."

WAS READING NEWS

The Secret Army attack came as an announcer was reading an evening news summary.

Listeners heard screams and what sounded like gunfire. Some one in the studio shouted "No, no," and the station went off the air. It was back on in two minutes with recorded classical music.

Police said later at least one person in the studio was wounded.

WRECK ANYTHING

Throughout the day the Secret Army set off hundreds of pounds of explosives in carrying out their campaign to destroy anything that could benefit the Moslems after independence.

European leaders resumed talks Friday with Moslem leaders at the administrative centre of Rocher Noir, outside Algiers. The talks resumed after a two-day break.

West Coast 'Treasure'

Death Trap Yields Rich Haul

A treasure trove of fish and game, Indian artifacts, ancient relics and scenic beauty has been uncovered by two Sooke hikers who trekked some 60 miles over an "impassable" trail to Bamfield.

But bricklayer Harold George Witham, 45, Church Road in Sooke, and Island Tug mate Jerry Filippo, 24, West Coast Road, warned off those who would follow their lead.

DEATH TRAP

The first 15 miles of the trail they followed from Port Renfrew to Bamfield, said Mr. Witham, is a death trap.

And nature has reclaimed much of the rest of the trail hacked out of the wilderness by telephone and department of transport line crews years ago.

IT'S A LIFELINE

"It's too bad the trail is not in better shape—the people of Bamfield say it is a lifeline in case of a ship being wrecked along the coastline," said Mr. Witham.

And hunters, hikers and fishermen would find it a royal road to the teeming game and fish abounding in the area.

BIG FAT BUCKS

"We spotted deer—big fat buck—and cougar, picked up elk sign and at least one river is teeming with steelhead."

The veteran hikers found the Bamfield trail from Port Renfrew a real challenge. "Some portions were overgrown to a depth of 10 feet.

LOST THE TRAIL

"We spent an hour covering 100 yards once when we lost the trail," said Mr. Witham.

Various proposals in the past to build a road linking Port Renfrew with Bamfield seemed slightly star-struck to both.

"It would cost a fortune. In the first 15 miles alone they would need about seven bridges over deep gorges," said Mr. Witham.

Filthy Baby Farm Found in Toronto

TORONTO (CP)—Welfare officials are looking for parents whose children — left for the day at a neat, clean home in the suburbs—later turned up in a "terribly filthy place."

Police and public health officials received reports that someone was operating a "baby farm" at a downtown address, and Miss Florence Schill of the Children's Aid Society said the Scarborough home was apparently a "front."

Officials said Friday the parents who apparently thought their children were being cared for at a modern bungalow in suburban Scarborough, may have to prove they are fit to care for them before they get them back.

TODDLERS FOUND

Police said a total of 23 toddlers, ranging in age from three months to two years, were found Thursday at a large, dingy, downtown house. Many of them had been taken there from the Scarborough home.

When police raided the downtown premises a car containing seven children was driven away — presumably to deliver the youngsters back to their parents.

FOUND IN CAR

Sixteen children were found in a car outside the home. Eight were turned over to the Roman Catholic Children's Aid Society and one other—originally turned over to the Catholic group—was returned to its mother.

John Melichercik, director of family services for the Catholic society, said he had heard from "two or three" other parents, but said the babies would be returned only in cases where parents can show they are able to provide for them.

KEEP CHILDREN

The metro group announced it will keep the seven children it has until juvenile court rules on their fate—likely early next week.

Mr. Melichercik said the woman who regained her child was a working mother who was upset to learn of conditions in the place where her child was found.

He said it appeared from telephone interviews with parents that they were not aware that their children were being taken to the downtown premises.

Students Graduate, Celebrate

Dying Art of the Whistle Stop Revived by Happy Diefenbaker

MONCTON, N.S. (CP) — The dying art of whistle-stop electioneering got a fresh but brief boost from Prime Minister Diefenbaker Friday.

He roared across the rolling Quebec and New Brunswick countryside by train hopping out of his special car for some fast electioneering on station platforms.

It was a 490-mile, five - stop trip at the tail-end of the CNR's Ocean Limited from Levis, Que., to Moncton where he opened a $1,500,000 extension to the local post office and was to address a night rally.

Two thousand school children jammed the platform at Campbellton, N.B. Mr. Diefenbaker was presented a crate of fresh salmon by eight-year-old Terry Raymond, who delivered a speech he wrote himself in French and English.

"Now if he'll just throw it to me," said Mr. Diefenbaker, "I'd be able to say I caught my first salmon."

There were small but friendly crowds at Bathurst, Newcastle and Harcourt as the prime minister travelled through four New Brunswick ridings, three of them held by Conservatives in the last Parliament.

Mrs. Diefenbaker left the campaign coach at Newcastle to fly to Prince Edward Island for a quick afternoon tour.

SHOOK HANDS

Under brilliant sunshine, the prime minister shook scores of hands, made brief speeches with the barest mentions of the June 18 election, and apparently enjoyed himself.

After snipping a white ribbon to open the new federal building here, Mr. Diefenbaker strolled back to the Brunswick Hotel.

At the door he was stopped by Mrs. G. H. Craig who sold him a red rose on behalf of the Imperial Order Daughters of the Empire.

Mr. Diefenbaker had no change with him—so an aide put up the money.

Baffling Slide 'Nightmare'

TERRACE (CP)—Government investigators were flown in Friday to view a mysterious underground upheaval which swept a provincial government campsite into a lake, toppled trees and power poles and severed two highways near this north - central British Columbia community.

Water was still gushing up from under the earth's surface and flooding the area of the slide, the second in the area in two weeks. No one was injured, but three workmen had to run for their lives when their construction equipment sank under them and disappeared into the ground.

Workmen started hacking through the bush 100 feet from the slide to build a detour road. The 4,000-foot detour will be open to traffic within a week, again linking the coastal aluminum smelting community of Kitimat with civilization by road. Kitimat is 40 miles north.

Highways department officials said it may be necessary to build a third new road to bypass the section.

District Superintendent Carl Shaw said the area is a highway worker's nightmare.

He said the workers have drilled 50 feet down and still have not reached the bottom of the blue clay.

He said one tractor operator, who had been in two slides, quit.

"The poor guy said he'd had it. He said he watched his tractor slowly revolve two or three times then disappear into the mud with a sucking sound. It was enough for him."

'I May Be Shot' Dog-Tag Warns

MEDIA, Pa. (AP) — The community of Rutledge has come up with a version of the talking dog.

In an effort to solve one of the Delaware County Borough's most vexing problems—dogs running loose—a cardboard tag will be attached to the collars of stray dogs. On one side will be the word, "warning." On the other:

"I have been violating the law. Ordinance 248, Rutledge Borough, states that no dogs are permitted to run at large.

"I am subject to being shot. You are subject to being fined from $5 to $50.

"Please watch over me more carefully. We may not be so lucky the next time.

"Let's help to be good neighbors and keep Rutledge a nice place to live. Thank you for your co - operation."

A Sad but Charming Drama

Tiny Heroine Flees False Honor

LONDON (AP)—Police and parents Friday pieced together the sad but charming drama of a 10-year-old girl, hailed for six months as a local heroine.

Since last January, just about everyone in nearby Richmond believed Tina Stapley had rescued her schoolmate, Paula Thomas, from drowning in the River Thames.

Thursday was to be Tina's big day.

Officials of the Royal Humane Society were to present her their coveted award for bravery. The 240 pupils of Orchard County primary school were ready to applaud.

But, six hours beforehand, Tina disappeared.

Paula vanished, too.

On her dressing table, Tina's mother found a note: "Dearest mummy — I have to run away. I didn't rescue Paula. We were just playing."

Meanwhile police picked up Tina and Paula, wandering hand - in - hand down a side street.

They broke into tears and confessed everything.

Paula had slipped into the river near their home. But the water was only knee deep.

Watching Paula splash around, Tina jumped in beside her.

They began splashing water on one another and, soaked, they got out.

A passerby saw them. He called a constable. The constable summoned an ambulance.

"Then things got out of hand," explained Paula's mother. "Their imaginations went to work—and pretty soon Tina was a heroine."

Mrs. Thomas added:

"My daughter wants to be a writer. Tina wants to be an actress. I suppose the rescue was a natural collaboration."

Boy Survives Lethal Spray

KAMLOOPS (CP)—A four-year-old boy was flown to hospital here by helicopter Friday after drinking a near-lethal dose of fly spray.

During the 80-mile flight from Clearwater, pilot Bill Harvey landed his helicopter to administer an antidote to David McTague. Later, the boy's heart stopped and Harvey and the father, Harry McTague, revived him with artificial respiration in flight.
